

Greece Asks U.S. for Help in War With Italy

Requests as Many Planes As Possible

Athens—(P)—Greece appealed to the "free countries" of the world today to help her in her war against Italy, with the declaration by Theo Nicoloudis, press minister, that they should not be misled by current Greek successes in the field.

He appealed especially to Britain and the United States, in a talk with foreign newspaper correspondents, to send the greatest possible number of planes, and compared Greece's present situation with that of Finland in the struggle with Russia a year ago.

Nicoloudis spoke as Italian troops were reported moving slowly out of

Athens Regime in Bid to Washington

Washington—(P)—The Greek government has appealed directly to the United States government for permission to purchase aviation and other military supplies.

This was made known today by Sumner Welles, acting secretary of state, who said the Greek government had been assured that the appeal would receive a most sympathetic response.

Welles said the matter had been referred to other government departments for consideration.

The appeal, he added, was made both through the American legation in Athens and the Greek legation in Washington. The Greek minister discussed the situation with Welles late yesterday.

Koritz after two weeks of Greek battling against the fortified Albanian city.

"We won't make the same mistake as heroic Finland which, content with her first successes, failed to ask for help from abroad," Nicoloudis said.

Urges Quick Action

"Despite our epic victories, despite our unshakable faith in our cause which is blessed by God, we appeal with all our force to public opinion of our allies and of foreigners while there is still time so that aerial support given Greece may be extended without delay."

The Greeks, he continued, are fighting an enemy six times greater in war materials.

Italian troops were reported being forced slowly out of the Koritz zone today—fighting fiercely to keep open their road of retreat—after two weeks of increasing Greek battling against the fortified Albanian city.

Greek military sources made no immediate claim to capturing the strategic crossroads city 10 miles inside Albania, but a government spokesman declared last night that fascist defenders in the Koritz sector had given up counter-attacks and called upon their dive bombers to cover their withdrawal to positions farther back.

Even this, it was reported, failed because of counter-action by Greek and British warplanes in which, the Greek high command said today, nine Italian planes were shot down, to two Greek planes lost.

The spokesman reported that "we continue to crush successively the enemy lines" in a squeeze to cut off the Italians' road of retreat.

Bitter Fighting
The Greek communique today said "fierce fighting" continued in these operations, in which some "stubbornly defended" Italian positions were taken.

The advancing Greeks were said to have taken an unestimated number of additional prisoners and seized stores and war material including 10,000 blankets, quantities of grain, 10 field guns, 33 anti-tank guns and 15 mortars.

Large Italian stores were believed to be in Koritz, where fascist forces were said to have stockpiled for months for the frustrated push intended to cut Greece in two with a drive through Phlorina to Salonika.

The communique told of fierce fighting also in the central and seaward zones of the front, where the Greeks were reported to have taken prisoners and seized Italian supplies in raids into Albania at Erseka and Borova.

Raid on Islands

The ministry of home security also told today of a Greek "motor launch" raid against one of Italy's Dodecanese islands, fortified fascist naval bases in the eastern Mediterranean.

The ministry's communique gave this account:

"Citizens of the Dodecanese islands living and working in Greece sailed on the night of Nov. 17-18 with a group of Dodecaneseans and others on a motor launch from a Greek anchorage and landed on a small island of the Dodecanese islands."

"The group attacked the police post and captured the police head and three carabinieri (policemen) with their equipment. The group further attacked a naval guard, and in the fight which followed, three naval guards, including the petty officer in charge, were killed."

"The raiders returned with four prisoners and equipment to the anchorage from which they sailed."

Bulgarian King in Talk With Hitler

Bern, Switzerland—(P)—Diplomatic sources asserted today that a German-Bulgarian drive toward the Aegean sea and Salonika in Greece "may be effected at any hour."

A Greek spokesman declared that his country's high command had taken all necessary steps to meet such an attack on Greece's flank in Macedonia.

Foreign military observers here expressed belief that the Greeks could not hope to defend the narrow panhandle of Macedonia and Thrace, along the Aegean sea, unless Turkey come to their aid, but might try to hold the city of Salonika.

Sofia, Bulgaria—(P)—Bulgarians learned today that King Boris has joined the procession of European leaders who have talked recently with Adolf Hitler.

They did not learn what their king and the fuhrer discussed, but their meeting occurred amid signs that an organized campaign may be developing to prepare the Bulgarian public for developments.

The press has revived discussion of Bulgarian claims for an outlet to the Aegean sea, apparently in expectation of the backing of "friends."

A bare government announcement of Boris' trip was issued after his return. All it told was that he and Hitler talked together Sunday.

It was believed, however, that the German minister to Bulgaria accompanied the king. The minister had been absent since Thursday, when he saw Premier Bogdan Philoff, who, in turn, called on King Boris.

"Peaceful Answer"
Drawing attention anew to this country's territorial aspirations, the press assured the public yesterday that the Aegean question soon would have a "peaceful, satisfactory" answer. But it did not tell how this might be achieved.

"If our friends advise us to wait longer, we will obey them because we are convinced no fruit should be picked until it is ripe," declared Deputy Sotir Tanef in the newspaper Duma.

"But we must continue to think and work for the cause of a real just peace."

It is believed the present Sofia government may resign after the passage today or tomorrow of a new anti-Semitic bill, agitation for which has puzzled the tolerant Bulgarian public. The new government would be presumed to be flatly pro-axis.

2 Sheboygan Men are Killed in Accidents

Sheboygan—(P)—Frederick Schutte, 76, was injured fatally by an automobile as he pushed a wheelbarrow across a street last night.

Reinhold Firzfall, 66, was injured fatally in a traffic accident on Highway 28 between Sheboygan and Kohler, Firzfall, walking along the highway, was struck by one car and thrown into the middle of the road. A second automobile ran over him. He died on the way to the hospital.

2 Robbers Get $7,000 In Holdup at Madison

Madison—(P)—Two gunmen accosted Chester Gill, 39-year-old bank messenger, in the lobby of the Madison Gas and Electric company building about 10:45 a. m. today and escaped with $7,000 in currency and checks which Gill was taking to a bank for the company.

While there were no patrons in the lobby the holdup occurred in the presence of several clerks who were busy with their work and did not notice the robbers as they marched Gill into the street.

The messenger told police one of the men carried a shotgun concealed in a newspaper and the other brandished a pistol.

As they reached the street one of them grabbed the money bag, containing $3,000 in cash and $4,000 in checks. They escaped in a car waiting at the curb.

Gill had called at the gas company building to pick up the funds and was waiting in the lobby for a police squad car to escort him to the bank when the men approached him.

Police reported the only person, except Gill, who saw the robbers was Mrs. Mary Rice of Madison. She was entering the building as they were leading the messenger out.

Mrs. Rice did not notice the weapons, since the shotgun was concealed and the gunman carrying the pistol had it jammed in Gill's ribs. She said she did not realize at the time she was witnessing a holdup.

Gill described each of the robbers as being about 35 years old,

Rites Friday At Racine for Col. Rickman

Head of Wisconsin Motor Department Succumbs in Office

Madison—(P)—The body of Colonel George W. Rickman, 67, commissioner of the state motor vehicle department, who was found dead in his capitol annex office about 5:30 p. m. yesterday, was sent to Racine today for burial.

Funeral services will be held in the Masonic temple at Racine Friday afternoon, it was announced here, and burial will be in Mount cemetery in that city.

Dr. H. M. Guilford of the state board of health, who was summoned when the body was found, said Colonel Rickman apparently succumbed to heart disease and Coroner Wayne Fisher announced no inquest would be held. Associates said Colonel Rickman had been ailing for some time.

He was appointed commissioner by Governor Heil on Sept. 7, 1939, for a six year term after the legislature consolidated all motor vehicle laws.

Three States to Study New Labor Legislation

Madison—(P)—Representatives of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Michigan will meet in Madison Friday and Saturday to analyze the new labor and employment relations laws enacted by the three states in 1939.

Plans for the conference were announced today by Wisconsin employment relations commissioners, Henry C. Fuldner, L. E. Gooding and R. Floyd Green, who will represent this state.

Others to attend will include Conciliator Lloyd J. Haney and Attorney George Sporelius of the Minnesota division of conciliation, and one or more members of the Michigan labor mediation board.

Denies He Has New Milwaukee Office

Madison—(P)—Governor Heil denied today reports that he had opened up an office in downtown Milwaukee, declaring he "didn't know anything about it."

The governor at the same time announced he no longer would meet people to discuss state affairs either at the Milwaukee Athletic club or at the Heil Manufacturing company offices in Milwaukee.

"The newspapers played it up too much when I met people at the Athletic club," the governor said at a press conference. "When I went there for a shave or a haircut I tried to be good to the people who came to see me about their business, but I only got razzed by the newspapers."

"And I am not going to meet people on state matters at the plant either. Then the papers think I am trying to get orders. While I am governor I am not looking for orders."

Strike Is Begun at Steel Plant in East

Syracuse, N. Y.—(P)—A strike of workers in the Halcob plant of the Crucible Steel company, which an official said was working on "some" defense orders, developed today as several hundred men of the day shift declined to enter the shops.

A spokesman for the workers, identifying himself only as a member of the CIO Steel Workers union, said the walkout affected 95 per cent of the estimated 2,200 plant employees.

"Three sections of the factory have been hit and put out of commission," the bulletin said. "One particularly heavy bomb penetrated to the underground workshop before exploding and wrecking the place. Some departments have been closed and have had to be moved to other cities."

Production at Krupp Works Cut by Half, Report in England

London—(P)—Production at the Krupp arms works at Essen, Germany, has been cut down 50 per cent as the result of British bombing raids, it was asserted today by the air ministry news service.

News reaching England indicated "the growing disruption of industry in cities of western Germany," the news service added.

The air ministry said the Krupp works were having great difficulty in obtaining their regular supplies of raw materials "because of transport trouble caused by wrecked railway junctions."

Congress Due to Decide Today On Adjournment

Rayburn Says House Will Quit if Enough Democrats Ballot

Washington—(P)—Republicans and some Democrats, voting together, defeated in the house today an attempt by the Democratic leadership to adjourn congress at the end of the day's session.

Washington—(P)—The senate elected Senator King (D-Utah) today as its president pro tempore during the life of the present congress. He succeeded the late Senator Key Pittman of Nevada.

Washington—(P)—Amid cautious rival claims on how the vote would go, congress met today for a showdown decision on whether to adjourn for the remainder of the year and go home.

Speaker Rayburn, advocating immediate adjournment, said the Democratic leadership was certain of sufficient strength in the house to pass an adjournment resolution—provided enough Democrats returned to their desks for the occasion.

Representative Martin (Mass.) Republican leader who opposes adjournment, foresaw, however, a vote "closer than they think it will be."

Neither the pro- nor anti-adjournment forces appeared to be certain of their exact strength as the test approached. The issue seemed to depend on the number of house members who had interrupted post-election vacations in response to leaders' pleas to come back and vote.

Senate O. K. Seen
On the senate side the consensus seemed to be that if the house voted for adjournment, the resolution was sure of senate approval.

In the senate administration leaders were anxious to obtain action on four appointments, including that of Harry A. Mills to the labor relations board, which has not yet received committee approval.

Other nominations pending were: Wayne C. Taylor to be under secretary of commerce, John J. Dempsey to be a member of the maritime commission, and J. Warren Madden, whom Mills would replace on the labor board, for judge on the court of claims.

Last Hunter Is Found Dead

Arthur J. Leonhardt, Former Resident of City, Dies in Storm

The body of Arthur Joseph Leonhardt, St. Paul, Minn., who had been missing for a week after setting out on a duck trip in Minnesota, has been found, it was reported today.

Leonhardt, a former Appleton resident, was the son of Mrs. Elizabeth Leonhardt, W. Eighth street. A resident of St. Paul the last 20 years, he was lost in the terrific storm that struck Minnesota and the midwest in general a week ago yesterday.

Besides his mother, he is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Joseph Baum, Battle Creek, Mich.; Mrs. Robert Goslin, St. Paul; one brother, Henry, Chicago.

Funeral services will be held at 9 o'clock Friday morning at St. Joseph's church, with the cortege forming at Wichmann Funeral home at 8:30. The body may be viewed at Wichmann Funeral home after Thursday morning.

Roosevelt Urges Labor Groups to Make Peace

VOLUNTEER FOR MILITARY TRAINING—Two young Appleton men who volunteered for a year's military service have been accepted and will be in the first Wisconsin contingent.

Fellows and Polzin of Appleton Will Go With First Draft Contingent

With two volunteers all set to leave with the first Wisconsin contingent for a year's military training, the Appleton district draft board is continuing its work of sending out questionnaires to registrants and examining them on return.

Karl Polzin and Keith Fellows, both of Appleton, will leave later this month for a year's training. They will be members of the first Wisconsin contingent of 278 men.

The second district board in Outagamie county announced this morning that the two young men it will send have yet to take physical examinations. They were scheduled to be examined today.

Polzin, 30, and Fellows, 21, are both registered for the draft, but disregarded their regular draft numbers and offered to go first.

The Appleton board has sent out about 400 questionnaires. It was reported this morning, and will send out about 200 more. After 600 have been mailed, the board will await further draft orders.

Board members emphasized again today that errors in making out the questionnaires are causing considerable difficulty and delay. They pointed out anew that the documents must be notarized and written in either ink or typewriter and not pencil. Any member of the draft board can act as notary.

Two members of the district board, Dr. C. L. Kolb and John Lappen, and the board's appeal agent, James R. Joyce, will meet with registrants of the city and vicinity at an open forum Wednesday night at the Appleton Y. M. C. A. for a discussion of draft procedure.

Atlantic City, N. J.—(P)—Philip Murray, Pittsburgh labor leader, told the Congress of Industrial Organizations' convention today that he was not a candidate to succeed John L. Lewis as CIO chief.

The gray-haired, quiet-spoken vice president of the CIO had been the only person mentioned at the national convention as a possible successor to Lewis.

"I want the convention to know that I don't have any aspirations," he said. "I am not a candidate for president of the CIO. That decision has been reached by me."

Murray's announcement came in the midst of convention consideration of Lewis' policies.

He expressed hope that the convention would work in harmony to adopt the Lewis report of his stewardship during the past year.

Murray said he disapproved of Lewis' position in the presidential campaign, in which Lewis backed Wendell L. Willkie and Murray supported President Roosevelt.

Admires Lewis
He added, however, that he had "an affection bordering upon actual love" for Lewis, with whom he has worked for 30 years.

In a pre-election speech Lewis had said he would resign as CIO president unless Willkie were elected.

Crews of Two Ships Say U. S. Destroyers Ordered Them to Halt

Mexico City—(P)—Crews of the Mexican tanker Cerro-Azul and the Honduran freighter Ceiba said today upon arrival in Tampico from New Orleans that United States destroyers eight miles off Tampico had ordered them to stand by for inspection of the ships' papers.

Official Mexican reports said the presence of the destroyers last Saturday caused one German merchantship master to scuttle his vessel and three others to scurry back to Tampico for refuge, believing the warships were British.

The Cerro-Azul and Ceiba identified the destroyers as the Plunkett, one of the United States navy's newest, and destroyers 210 and 233. (Jane's Fighting Ships lists the 233 as the Gilmer and the 210 as the Broome.)

684 Wear Lifebelts During Entire Voyage Across Ocean

New York—(P)—The armed British liner Samaria arrived today from Liverpool via Halifax with 684 passengers, most of them refugees from the war zone, and all of whom constantly wore their lifebelts during the voyage.

Among them was Mrs. Ann Haire, who said that before she left London a small bomb went through the crib used by her 14-month-old son and exploded after it had passed through the floor below.

She and the baby had gone to bed after having been in an air shelter until 2 a. m., she said. "After an initial explosion which blew the roof from the house," she related, "I saw a small bomb come down through the sky. It fell into the baby's crib—we were on the second floor—went on through and exploded—and when it did the baby went up in the air and I went with him."

"The house was practically demolished but neither of us was injured, except I was somewhat bruised."

Her husband is with the royal engineers. She and the child are on their way to stay with her sister, Mrs. Lily Norton, of Miami, Fla.

Another passenger with a tale of war's horrors was Arthur E. Dowling, of Melbourne, Australia, a survivor of the torpedoing of the City of Benares last Sept. 17.

Dowling said that he was in a lifeboat with 28 others when it was torpedoed and that he "watched 24 of the 28 die."

"The boat was water-logged and almost useless," Dowling related. "The passengers in it drowned practically sitting up. As each one died, I took off his lifebelt; prayed a few words, and eased them into the sea."

Cites Need For Unity in 'Emergency'

New Orleans—(P)—President Roosevelt in a message to the American Federation of Labor today urged a "just and honorable peace" with the now-divided labor movement in the United States and suggested that labor leaders can find a way toward that end.

"Peace will not be easy to achieve," the president said in a letter to A. F. of L. President William Green, who had it read to the convention, "and the intricate problems involved may not be easy to solve."

"But when men of honor and good intention," the president said, "sit down together they can work out a solution which will restore the much-needed harmony either by unity or by a sensible working arrangement."

In his message, the chief executive stressed the need for "a great and united democracy" in "any emergency which might be forced upon us."

Green's Reply
Green, in an answering telegram, assured the president that the A. F. of L. executive council was in full agreement that unity or a "sensible working agreement" can be worked out by men of "honor and good intentions."

"I am confident the convention will concur in the recommendation of the executive council by officially authorizing the committee representing the A. F. of L. to meet with a committee representing the CIO around a conference table for the purpose of negotiating an honorable peace and the reestablishment of unity and solidarity within the ranks of labor."

Loss of jobs by perhaps 5,000,000 men when this country returns to a peace economy was predicted today by Federal Housing Administrator Nathan Straus.

Plans to prevent such wholesale unemployment, Straus said in an address prepared for delivery at the convention, should include a public housing program of about 500,000 homes a year at the end of the defense emergency.

"I am not speaking of something theoretical or even problematical," said Straus in suggesting that in preparing against war this country also should prepare for peace. "I am speaking of an event which is as certain as death and taxes." He said:

No Permanent Solution
"Let us plan now to take up the slack in employment, that is sure to occur, by a program of useful public works, thoughtfully conceived and carefully worked out now to provide maximum benefits at minimum costs."

Straus said he cannot share the "optimism" of those thinking that unemployment will be cured permanently by expansion of defense industries. After asserting his concurrence that American must arm, he added:

"The armament program will not in the long run solve the problem of technological unemployment. On the contrary, the defense program will, through sad necessity, in the long run aggravate and double the problem unless we can plan and act now."

Chairman Arthur J. Altmeyer of the social security board declared in a prepared address that methods of protecting social security rights of defense employees and draftees must be perfected in order that they not lose their social security credits.

Navy Rushes Plans To Build Bases

Washington—(P)—The navy plans to rush construction, informed persons said today, on a $50,000,000 chain of bases for the sites acquired from Britain in the western hemisphere.

There also were indications that United States naval tenders might move into some of the newly-acquired anchorages immediately and provide temporary base facilities for American submarines and seaplanes guarding the Atlantic and Caribbean approaches to the vital Panama Canal area.

The way to a general start of construction and partial occupancy of some bases appeared cleared by the navy's formal announcement last night that "all the British authorities concerned" had agreed upon sites to be leased by this government in Bermuda, the Bahamas, Jamaica, Antigua, St. Lucia, British Guiana and Newfoundland.

Only at Trinidad, the southern "anchor" of the chain, were arrangements still incomplete.

Churchill Refuses To Outline War Aims

London—(P)—Prime Minister Churchill, asked for a statement of objectives which would make it clear that Great Britain "is striving for a new and better order in Europe," replied in the house of commons today that "the time has not come when official declaration should be made of the war aims."

Ask Gullickson To Quit as Head Of Committee

State Central Group Moves to Terminate Dual Chairmanship

Madison — (P) — The Republican State Central committee yesterday approved a resolution asking for the resignation of its chairman, Dr. F. L. Gullickson, of West Salem, "so that a proper and effective organization of the Republican State Central committee may be secured."

Also chairman of the state voluntary committee, Dr. Gullickson was asked to resign his post as central committee chairman in an effort to end the dual chairmanship. It was learned.

Formal announcement of the resolution was withheld, however, until Dr. Gullickson returns from a business trip to Washington, D. C.

The resolution said: "We note the filing of a report with the secretary of state of Wisconsin that the Republican State Central committee received no income and made no disbursements during the campaign just concluded."

"Indicates Inactivity" "This report indicates the complete inactivity of the committee and we feel impelled to protest against such inactivity."

"A legally constituted body selected in accordance with the statutes of Wisconsin for the purpose of conducting a political campaign for a great party should function, and we believe that its officers are derelict in their duty if they do not carry out the purposes of the committee."

In the recent campaign the voluntary committee assumed the duties of the central (statutory) committee.

The resolution said that the functions and duties of the statutory group had been "usurped" by the voluntary committee, and added:

"In the future the officers of this committee are directed to carry out the purposes thereof; that in order to effect such purposes, the efforts of the committee may be separated from those of any voluntary organization and that the dual identity of officers shall be terminated."

LONG AGITATION

Madison — The resolution adopted was the result of a long agitation for a separation of the two state party organizations and a reflection of pressure brought to bear by Ted Bacon, new national committeeman, Lieutenant Governor Walter S. Goodland, and other prominent critics of Gullickson's leadership.

Gullickson was reelected by the legal state committee at the platform convention held in October. That reelection, politicians explained here last night, however, was effected only to prevent the appearance of disunity before the Nov. 4 elections.

It was apparent by the vote of 18 of the 32 members present, that the committee intends to carry out its demand, and Gullickson will have little choice.

Still No 1 Man

In a practical sense, however, Gullickson's retention of the voluntary committee chairmanship would leave him the most influential Republican figure in the state. As chairman of the latter, Gullickson during the campaign just ended authorized the expenditure of more than $150,000, a record amount for Wisconsin campaigns. The legal committee spent nothing, it reported to the state auditor.

Gullickson has headed both party committees since the 1938 campaign, and supporters have pointed to Republican successes in the state since he took the "helm." Friction with other Republican leaders, however, had led to much speculation about ouster movements during the last year. It is known that Bacon and Gullickson have been at loggerheads most of the time on fundamental politics, and Lieutenant Governor Goodland has upon occasion criticized him in public statements.

Belief in Democracy Means Readiness to Defend It, Club Told

People do not believe in democracy unless they are willing to "pay any price to develop and defend it," Herb Heilig, director of the Appleton Vocational school, said in a talk before the Appleton Lions club yesterday noon in the Conway hotel.

Heilig told the club members that "you can't expect young people to believe in democracy because they have had no experience at it." Home and school, the school head declared, are oligarchies as far as children are concerned; they are told what to do and by the time they have reached young manhood and womanhood have had little chance to understand true democratic processes.

"Young people's impressions of our democracy are gained principally from the stuff they hear and read at tax time and during political campaigns," Heilig said. "No wonder they are skeptical about democracy."

Output of Dairy Products Down By 1 Per Cent

Wisconsin Ranked Third in Creamery Butter Production

Washington — (P) — The output of manufactured dairy products last year had a whole milk equivalent of 51,230 million pounds, a decline of one per cent from the 1938 total, the agricultural marketing service reported today.

Creamery butter production of 1,761,775,000 pounds was more than one per cent less than in the preceding year but six per cent above the 1933-37 average. Minnesota ranked first in production, Iowa was second and Wisconsin was third.

American cheese production totaled 533,386,000 pounds, a decrease of five per cent from 1938 production but 16 per cent greater than the 1933-37 average. Increased production in Wisconsin, Oregon and Washington was more than offset by declines in New York, Indiana, Texas and other states.

Swiss cheese production totaled 42,257,000 pounds, a decline of two per cent; Munster and Limburger cheese production was less than in 1938; but brick and Italian cheese production was considerably larger.

Output of evaporated milk (case goods) set a record of 2,171 million pounds. This exceeded the 1938 total by three per cent and the 1933-37 average by 18 per cent.

Condensed milk production followed the downward trend in evidence since 1919. Production totaled 34,732,000 pounds, a drop of 16 per cent from the 1938 figure and a decline of 36 per cent from the 1933-37 average.

Ice cream production reached a new high of 303,209,000 gallons, an increase of eight per cent. The apparent increase of 40 per cent in retail production, it was said, probably was due in part to a more complete enumeration than was obtained in 1938.

Dry skim milk production, which totaled 408,252,000 pounds, showed a decline for the first time in 18 years. Last year's total was nine per cent less than 1938 production but 27 per cent greater than the 5-year average.

Dried casein output was 40,218,000 pounds, a decrease of 17 per cent from the 1938 total.

Arraign Oneida Man On Charge of Rape

John Shillcock, 26, Oneida, was arraigned in municipal court of Judge Thomas H. Ryan yesterday on a charge of rape. Shillcock waived preliminary hearing and was bound over for trial on Nov. 23. A bond of $1,000 was not furnished.

'Enemy' Attack on Island Is Beaten Back, Italians Claim

Rome — (P) — Italian land, sea and air forces have repulsed an "enemy" attempt to seize the island of Gaidaro in the Dodecanese, the high command reported today.

Its communique said sharp fighting occurred on the Epirus front in Greece yesterday but resulted in no material change in the situation on either side except in the region of Ezeiki, an Albanian village, which it acknowledged was occupied by the Greeks.

Italian planes continued heavy bombardments and machine-gunning of Greek troop concentrations, it said, suffering a loss of only one plane against three "enemy" planes in the day's aerial warfare.

"Enemy" forces attempting to seize Gaidaro, the communique declared, were forced quickly to retreat.

(Gaidaro is the northernmost and one of the smallest islands in the Aegean sea archipelago off the Turkish coast.)

The communique gave no details of the engagement.

"Enormous damage" to British aeronautical and defense works and barracks in the Siwa oasis in Egypt by an Italian air attack also was reported. The communique said the raiders machine-gunned their targets and dropped high explosive and incendiary bombs, "hitting all objectives."

It acknowledged British bombardments of the Libyan ports of Tobruk and Bardia; Salum, an Italian-held position in Egypt; and Agordat, Corondil, Buna and Gherla in East Africa, but said there

Number of Paralysis Cases Continue to Drop

Madison — (P) — Incidence of infantile paralysis has declined for the third successive week, the state board of health announced today, strengthening the conviction that cold weather is gradually stamping out the disease in Wisconsin.

Fifteen new cases were reported for the week ended last Saturday, compared with 19 cases two weeks ago, 24 three weeks ago and 46 four weeks ago. Last week's cases raised the annual total to 476, highest since 1931.

The new cases included four from Waukegan county, two each from Barron, Buffalo, Chippewa and Dane counties, and single cases from Grant, Manitowoc and Waukegan counties, the board said.

Lady Astor Tells 'Em Off in Parliament

London — (P) — Lady Astor told 'em off again today in the house of commons.

The occasion was a request by Sir William Dawson for a more musical warning to replace air-raid sirens, about which he said nervous women had complained because "they are more depressing than bombs."

Greeks Toss Monkey Wrench in Axis Plans

BY FRED VANDERSCHMIDT

New York — (P) — The care with which Adolf Hitler is laying his stepping stones in the Balkans and the time he is taking suggest that he is none too sure of the safety of this cobbled road to the Near East.

It would seem that these prolonged consultations, now embracing such nations as Bulgaria and Hungary, might be unnecessary time-wasters since, obviously, no country in southeastern Europe save Turkey and Greece are in any position to say "no" to anything Hitler wants from them.

For one thing, however, Mussolini's difficulties in the mire and mountains of Greece undoubtedly have made Hitler wary, caused a rearrangement of his plans and forced him to the conclusion that his "little confederate," as Winston Churchill puts it, is not to be counted on too heavily down Mediterranean way.

Indeed, it now appears that the German armies, when they start moving south, will have to take time out to do a rescue job for the Italians in Greece. This undoubtedly irritates Hitler, for he counted on Mussolini to have Greece cleaned up and the door wide open for him by the time he got ready to move his troops down next to the Dardanelles and start putting pressure on Turkey.

May Cut Boris In

Now it looks like there won't be any Italian soldiers in Eastern Greece to receive the Germans with open arms, so Hitler may have had to ask unimmaculate, slightly stooped King Boris of Bulgaria for more cooperation than he had expected. Boris may not only have been "requested" to provide passage for the German troops; he may now be expected to make use of his own army against the Greeks.

In return he would get for Bulgaria a passage to the Aegean in the "new order" of things which Hitler, with Mussolini's acquiescence and apparently with Russia's cautious consent, is endeavoring to build for Europe.

Bulgaria is predominantly pro-Russian, by tradition a trustful and hopeful "little brother" of the giant on the east. Therefore, Hitler probably also found it convenient to draw a picture for Boris of the role which the axis has assigned to Russia in the "new order," whatever reservations Russia herself may have on the subject.

This Russian role, as outlined in Berlin, appears to be one of persuading Turkey to take no hasty action in eastern Greece if Bulgaria becomes a willing and helpful roadway for the German troops.

A little later, the Germans are counting on the Russians to be even more persuasive with Turkey—to the extent of convincing the Turks that they must open up the land bridge to Syria for the German armies.

Yugoslavia Not Concerned

In return for all this persuasion, the Germans are willing to let Russia move southward through Iran, Afghanistan and British India. There is even a hint that the Germans may be willing to let the Russians control the Dardanelles, or at least to promise it.

What Hitler will have to say to Hungary is, of course, much less important, and probably involves the questions of transportation and supply for the great numbers of men who will be moving south, in addition to those already in Rumania.

For the time being Yugoslavia seems to be out of the orbit of Hitler's immediate concern. This means that Yugoslavia is being left in Mussolini's particular sphere for the moment, and that Il Duce is still counted upon to control the destinies of Yugoslavia in any manner which the axis sees fit.

The British meantime, are not letting any eastern Mediterranean baronies grow on the hulls of their warships. Operating from their new base on Crete, they appear to be edging up into the Aegean, seeking bases close to the Turkish coast from which they can be of aid to the Turks and troublesome to an invader. The Italian communique says today that the British have attempted to seize Gaidaro island, one of Italy's dodecanese which lie closest to Turkey.

The Italians say the attempt was repulsed but, nevertheless, the disclosure is a good indication of Britain's intentions. There are, indeed, grave doubts as to whether Italy can defend these islands for any period of time.

Nazis Use 'Big Berthas' Across Strait of Dover

Bad Weather Cuts Down Air Raids on British Capital

London — (P) — German "Big Berthas" tossed shells across the mist-shrouded Dover strait today following a night of stormy weather which sharply curtailed the Nazi air siege of Britain.

For nearly an hour the German batteries shelled the English coast from the direction of Cap Gris Nez, which the British say is the site of eight of the 24 Nazi big gun emplacements strung out along the French coast from Calais to Boulogne.

In last night's curtailed activity, a few German raiders stabbed through howling winds to attack Liverpool, one section of the midlands and the south coast. London had four night alarms, but for the first time in weeks not a single bomb was dropped on the capital.

An official announcement said casualties in the bombed areas were small and damage was slight.

British bombers themselves were grounded for the most part by the channel storm, but the air ministry reported that one group managed to get in a lick against the synthetic German oil works at Leuna, near Leipzig. Here several large fires were declared started.

Striking a balance of shipping losses in the week ended Nov. 10-11, the admiralty announced 13 merchantmen totaling 71,749 tons were sunk "by enemy action." They included 10 British vessels aggregating 61,202 tons, one allied craft of 1,930 tons and two neutral ships totaling 8,617 tons.

Take Toll in Ships

Berlin — (P) — Ten British merchant ships totaling 51,220 tons were sunk off England yesterday and last night—eight by submarines and two by dive bombers—the German high command reported today.

In addition, a communique said, three other ships were damaged by bombs. The high command said the eight ships sunk by submarines were all armed merchant vessels.

One submarine was credited with sinking four totaling 23,880 tons, the other with sinking four, including two armed tankers, totaling 21,340 tons.

The high command said two merchantmen of 3,900 tons each were sunk by bombs in attacks on convoys off the east coast of England.

A communique described attacks by a "restricted number" of British planes last night on German territory as without effect.

During the night attacks on England, the communique said, "battle planes of the Italian flying corps attacked a city on the east coast of England with good results."

The German air attacks yesterday were said to have been aimed at "war vital objectives" of London, England's south coast and the midlands. Hits were reported on harbors and industrial facilities in Southampton and armament works in the midlands.

tomorrow. Hutter said general acceleration of the butter and cheese improvement program would be discussed.

Farmer Ready To Meet Needs, Group Is Told

Agriculture Council Opens Get-Together At State Capital

Madison — (P) — William H. Hutter of Spring Green, president of the Wisconsin Council of Agriculture, declared today that American agriculture was prepared to meet all the demands present world conditions may make upon it.

Hutter addressed the opening session of the twelfth annual Wisconsin farmers get-together conference which had as its theme the study of effects of world conditions on American agriculture.

Approximately 900 were expected to attend the two-day meeting. "We are glad to say that the American farmers' house is in order from the standpoint of production to meet the present emergency caused by the war overseas," Hutter said.

"Today farming faces a great responsibility. We in the farm organizations must now think seriously beyond our industry and even beyond the limits of our country."

"Our business of farming is rapidly moving into the center of the world problem," he added.

The program today included addresses by Adjutant General Ralph M. Immell, Madison; Herman Ide, Neenah, chairman of the state board of agriculture; A. J. Glover, Ft. Atkinson, president of the University of Wisconsin board of regents and editor of Hoad's Dairyman, and Phil A. Grau, Milwaukee, radio news commentator.

A business session will be held

War Situation Today

Greece Appeals to All 'Free Countries' for Aid in War

Greece appealed for aid from the United States and other "free countries" in her struggle against Italy today as evidence mounted that the Rome-Berlin axis may be planning a new explosion in southeast Europe.

The Greek press minister, Theo Nicoloudis, directed the appeal especially to the United States and Britain, declaring that his country was fighting a nation six times greater in war materials and that the world should not be misled by current Greek successes in the field.

Adolf Hitler is rapidly forging an "axis empire" in Europe, it became increasingly clear meanwhile, attempting step by step to array a whole continent in political ties against Great Britain.

In Bucharest, dispatches from Berlin to the Rumanian press heralded "a great military offensive against Greece, Egypt and Africa by Germany and Italy."

Amid a flurry of diplomatic activity, presumably aimed at bringing Bulgaria and Hungary within the axis fold, the German (Ghehr) was evidently drawing his lines swiftly to present Britain with a fait accompli of European "unity."

D. N. B., the official German news agency, disclosed that Hungary is next on the list for axis discussions—starting in Vienna tomorrow—and that King Boris of Bulgaria conferred secretly with Hitler Sunday at his Bavarian mountain retreat, in Berchtesgaden.

Previously, either Hitler or his axis partner, Benito Mussolini, had conferred with leaders of soviet Russia, France, Spain and Rumania.

If successful, these talks would appear to leave Europe virtually a "closed corporation" under a Rome-Berlin axis dictatorship except to conquered nations and the four neutral states of Switzerland, Sweden, Portugal and Yugoslavia.

Turkey, though neutral and Britain's friend, is reported strongly under the influence of Russia.

Meanwhile, in the Balkan war Greece claimed sweeping new successes in a counter-invasion into Albania, with Italian troops steadily retreating from the key city of Koritza, 10 miles inside Albania.

Premier Mussolini's fascist columns were reported fighting fiercely to keep open their road of retreat from the Koritza zone, and the advancing Greeks were said to have captured great numbers of prisoners, stores and war materials, including 10,000 blankets, quantities of grain, 10 field guns, 33 anti-tank guns and 15 mortars.

Reuters (British news agency) dispatches from Yugoslavia said Koritza fell at last to Greek attack at 1 a. m. Today (5 p. m., C. S. T. Monday), but the Greek high command made no immediate claim of capturing the crossroads base.

An official announcement in Sofia said Hitler and the king met Sunday—preceding yesterday's conference of Hitler, Italy's Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano and Spain's Foreign Minister Ramo Serrano Suncer.

A storm over Britain and the English channel cut down the customary trading of air blows last night between Britain and Germany.

The British reported "few casualties and little damage" from bombings at Liverpool, in one midland community, and along the south coast. London, which had four alarms during the night, reported no bombs were dropped there.

One small squadron of R. A. bombers was said to have strayed through the storm in a raid on "oil target" in central Germany.

Hitler's high command asserted that 10 British merchant ships totaling 51,220 tons were torpedoed or dive-bombed to the bottom of England yesterday and last night.

German warplanes were reported to have set new fires raging at Coventry, the English midlands town which was attacked by 500 raiders in a 12-hour assault the night of Nov. 14, and at Birmingham and Liverpool.

The London admiralty acknowledged the loss of 13 merchant ships totaling 71,749 tons in the week ended Nov. 10-11, but said that that same period the German claimed to have sunk 140,414 tons—almost twice as much.

While bad flying weather brought a lull in the air siege of Britain, German "Big Berthas" shelled the English coast for nearly an hour across the mist-shrouded strait of Dover this morning.

Churches Prepare for Thanksgiving Services

While a number of Protestant churches of Appleton will cooperate in a union Thanksgiving service at 10 o'clock Thursday morning at Memorial Presbyterian church, others will hold their own services either Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

The Rev. D. E. Forbush, pastor of the First Congregational church, will preach the sermon at the union service at the Presbyterian church, since he is the minister who has come to Appleton most recently. Music will be provided by members of the host church, and the offering will be taken for the church fund for Chinese relief, an interdenominational fund. The committee in charge of the service which is being held under auspices of Appleton Ministerial association consists of Dr. Harry C. Culver, chairman; the Rev. Robert K. Bell and George F. Werner.

Trinity English Lutheran church will have its annual Thanksgiving service at 8 o'clock Wednesday night at the church. The Rev. C. H. Zeidler, pastor, will speak on "Higher Thanksgiving." At Zion Lutheran church there will be an English service at 9 o'clock Thursday morning and a German service at 10:15. Last Sunday the pastor, the Rev. Theodore Marth, spoke on "The Bible Word About the Final Judgment."

Communion at 9
A communion service at 9 o'clock at All Saints Episcopal church Thursday morning will last only about a half hour so that the members of the parish may attend the union services at the Presbyterian church at 10 o'clock.

Thanksgiving services at St. Paul Lutheran church will be in English at 9 o'clock Thursday morning and in German at 10:15. The Senior Fellowship will meet at 7:30 Wednesday night at the school hall. At First English Lutheran church there will be a Thanksgiving service at 9:30 Thursday morning, while at Mt. Olive Lutheran church the service will be at 10:15 Thursday morning when the pastor, the Rev. R. E. Ziesemer, will preach on the subject, "America, Be Thankful." Announcements for holy communion for next Sunday morning and evening will be taken at the personage Friday afternoon and evening.

First Church of Christ, Scientist, will have a Thanksgiving service at 10:30 Thursday morning when expressions of gratitude will be given by the congregation. Testimony meeting will be at 8 o'clock.

Wednesday night. Last Sunday morning the lesson-sermon was on "Mortals and Immortals," the following passage being quoted from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortal man will be less mortal, when he learns that matter never sustained existence and can never destroy God who is man's life. When the illusion of sickness or sin tempts you, cling steadfastly to God and His idea. Allow nothing but His likeness to abide in your thought."

Morning and Evening
Mt. Calvary Lutheran church, Kimberly, will have Thanksgiving services Thursday morning and evening with celebration of the Lord's Supper. The Rev. W. F. Wichmann is pastor.

The final school of missions will be held at 7 o'clock Wednesday night at First Methodist church instead of Thursday because of Thanksgiving. Still pictures of "Unique Hawaii" will be shown as well as a reel of movies entitled "In the Heart of Hawaii." Last night the Seymour sub-district education meeting was held at Neehan.

Midweek prayer service will be held at 7:45 Thursday night at Wesleyan Methodist church of which the Rev. N. J. Remmenga is pastor.

Ice Fishing Begins Jan. 1

Additional Spear Season on Sturgeon From Feb. 1 to Mar. 1

The ice fishing season in most of the inland waters in this area and including Lake Winnebago will open Jan. 1 and close Feb. 1, according to new regulations recently released by the state conservation department.

An additional month of fishing sturgeon on Lake Winnebago by spear only will be permitted from Feb. 1 to March 1. One sturgeon per day with a limit of five for the season has been set.

In Brown and Waupaca counties all waters will be open for ice fishing to Jan. 15.

Fishing shanties may be used by fishermen on Lake Winnebago when the ice is considered safe and must be removed by March 1. The shanties must be equipped with a latch on the outside so that the door may be opened readily from the outside at any time. On state lakes where shanties are not permitted, windbreaks may be used.

The department stipulates, however, that the name and address of the person owning the shanty must be plainly printed on the outside.

Mrs. E. W. Nelson, Lee Rosholt Co-Chairmen of Seal Campaign

Lee M. Rosholt, of the Appleton division of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association will lead the Appleton 1940 Christmas seal campaign.

Selling at a penny each, the seals this year feature a colorful picture of two little boys and a girl singing Christmas carols. "It is to make homes safe for children just like these that we are so anxious to do everything possible to make Wisconsin free from tuberculosis," Rosholt said.

Conducted under the sponsorship of the Wisconsin Anti-Tuberculosis association, the local sales are to raise funds to continue the health education, early diagnosis and case-finding program necessary for the eradication of tuberculosis.

"Every penny you give for a seal is another step towards lessening the tragedies that follow on the heels of tuberculosis," said the seal sale chairman. "Your penny may save someone else a million pennies' worth of time, suffering and actual financial expense."

The seals, which can be used with ingenuity on packages, stationery, tally cards and the backs of envelopes, are reminders that tuberculosis still exists, but the more seals used, the less will be the possibility of the disease into any home.

Beginning Nov. 23, similar Christmas seal campaigns will be conducted over the entire United States. Felix L. Martini, Los Angeles artist, designed the 1940 seal for the National Tuberculosis association.

2 Cases of Contagion Reported During Week

Only two cases of contagion were reported in Outagamie county during the week ended Nov. 9, according to information received by Miss Marie Klein, Outagamie county nurse, from the state board of health. Both cases were whooping cough and were reported by the city of Kaukauna.

Defense Costs are Something People Ought to Know About

BY HUGH S. JOHNSON

Washington, D. C.—How much is rearmament, or actual war, or both, going to cost us; and when and how shall we pay for it?

Nobody can answer accurately, because nobody can foresee the course of such a war. We must have total defense. No matter what it costs, we shall somehow have to pay for it—we or our children's children. Certain as is that conclusion, there should be at least the attempt to let our people look in the face of the facts that we do not know. There has been none.

The administration has just announced that the war department, since July 1st, has awarded contracts in excess of 45 billions and the navy about 42 billions, total 87 billions. "And for all defense purposes more than 10 of the 16 billions voted by congress to reinforce defenses have been obligated."

This is confusing because the difference between 87 billions for armament and 10 billions for "defense" is 13 billions, for which the exact use is not specified. Some cities are insisting the federal government rebuild their street systems "for national defense." Several other more nearly boondoggling spending projects are being called "national defense." Finally the figure is 16 billions voted by congress to reinforce defense is a floater that checks with no forthright appropriation I can find. This kind of reporting is pretty much rattle-dazzle.

Furthermore, the report is almost meaningless because, as quoted in the A.P. dispatch, "prospective delivery guarded military secret. However, it is expected to be next summer before production will reach anything like full speed."

Yes, and then some. And why should preparedness time schedules be a closely guarded military secret? They are unlikely to be any secret to our prospective enemies. The trouble with our whole preparedness program over the past few years was the failure to let our own people know the truth. The last war schedules are no true yardstick today, but here is the way they ran as reported by the secretary of the treasury. In round figures 1917, 1.2 billions; 1918, 12.3 billions; 1919, 17.5 billions; 1920, 5.2 billions; 1921, 3.8 billions—total 40 billions, notwithstanding that the war ended in November 1918.

Placing Of Contracts Doesn't Tell Much

What these figures prove is that reporting the placing of contracts with no information as to delivery dates, is no realistic indication of progress at all, but, on the contrary, is highly misleading. They also give some idea of a rapid acceleration of the mounting cost of industrial war production and the difficulty of checking it when the necessity has passed.

We spent 17.5 billions in 1919 after the armistice, just liquidating the effort. Before it was believed that the war would end in 1918, our estimates were that 1919 alone would cost 30 billions.

It is true that we were equipping a far larger army, but we were not providing any such naval armament as now and, for both army and navy the units of equipment, airplanes, guns, ships and rifles cost only a fraction of our present mechanized, motorized, war monsters. Finally, it is daily becoming more apparent that we are going to be asked to pay for the armament of other nations.

On our present planless progress, a cost of fifty billions is a minimum. 100 billions is easily possible. Added to existing debt, the total could equal half the value of the total wealth of the United States.

If it must be so, so be it, but wouldn't it be only prudent government in a democracy to give the people at least some kind of estimate of relative costs and values before we decide finally on vital courses of policy and action?

Gas Companies Staging Fight

Two Firms Ask U. S. To Stop Third From Building Pipeline

Washington—(AP)—A federal power commission examiner deferred decision yesterday on a motion to restrain the Natural Gas Pipeline company of America from building a pipeline into Wisconsin until completion of a hearing.

E. V. Kessinger, general superintendent, and Floyd C. Brown, general manager of the pipeline company were the closing witnesses at a hearing which involved applications of the Independent Natural Gas and Western Natural companies for authority to furnish gas to distributing companies in Milwaukee and other Wisconsin cities.

Kessinger and Brown contended that their company, which serves Chicago, had facilities to supply the market at rates lower than could be offered by the applicant concerns. These concerns moved that the commission hold up construction of this pipeline.

Pipeline company officials said there was a question as to whether the commission had jurisdiction to restrain construction of a line from Chicago to the Wisconsin markets. Trial examiner E. G. Simpson did not indicate when a decision would be made.

Brown said the company was going ahead with construction of a line which Allen A. Grambling, attorney for Western, contended

AUNT JENNY'S HOLIDAY RECIPES

EGGNOG PIE
1 teaspoon gelatin
1 tablespoon cold water
1/2 cup milk
2 cups sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 egg yolk, beaten
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 cup heavy cream, whipped
1 baked Spry Pie Shell
Nutmeg

Soak gelatin in cold water. Scald milk in top of double boiler. Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt and mix thoroughly. Add to scalded milk and cook until thick and smooth, then cook 15 minutes longer, stirring constantly.

Stir a small amount of mixture into beaten egg yolk, return to double boiler, and cook a few minutes longer. Add gelatin. Add butter. Cool. Add vanilla. Fold whipped cream into custard mixture. Pour into baked pie shell. Sprinkle top generously with nutmeg. Garnish with pastry stars or turkeys. Chill pie until ready to serve.

SPRY PIE SHELL
Use for all your one-crust pies
1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
2 1/2 teaspoons salt
2 tablespoons Spry
2 tablespoons cold water (about)

Mix flour and salt together. Add 1/4 of Spry and cut in until mixture is as fine as meal. Add remaining Spry and continue cutting until particles are size of a large pea. Sprinkle water gradually over mixture. With a fork, work lightly together until a dough is formed. Roll dough 1/4-inch thick and prick with a fork (or baked pie shell only). Place dough in ungreased pie shell. Bake in very hot oven (425° F.) 12 to 15 minutes. (Use unbaked pie shell for the Tangy Top Mince Pie.) See what tender, flaky crust Spry gives—a delicate-tasting, too, a perfect partner for the delectable cream filling!

TANGY TOP MINCE PIE
3 tablespoons Spry
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cold water
2 egg yolks
1 cup milk
Juice and grated rind of 1 lemon
2 egg whites, stiffly beaten
1 pint mince meat (fatty dry)
1 unbaked Spry Pie Shell

Combine Spry, salt, sugar and food and mix well. Add egg yolks, milk, lemon juice and rind and beat with rotary egg beater until smooth. Fold in egg whites. (If mince meat is moist, cook it down to a fairly dry consistency.) Spread mince meat in unbaked pie shell and pour lemon mixture over mince meat. Bake in hot oven (425° F.) 10 minutes, then reduce heat to 350° F. for 45 to 60 minutes longer.

Workshop for NYA Training Is on Its Way

Cost of Pre-Fabricated Structure, Equipment
Estimated at $80,000

Kaukauna—The pre-fabricated workshop which the council accepted from the National Youth Administration at its Nov. 6 meeting was to have been shipped out from St. Paul, Minn., yesterday, and should arrive in the city this week, William T. Sullivan, vocational school director, said this morning.

Cost of the building and its equipment, which the government will furnish, is estimated at $80,000. The city is to pay $5,504, which is largely expected to be taken out in materials and services. The city also will furnish the site, directly east of the high school, title to which has been transferred to the NYA administration, Sullivan said.

Details of the contract which the city authorized Sullivan to enter into on behalf of the council have been ironed out. The national head of the NYA is expected to visit Wisconsin soon, and probably will devote some attention to the Kaukauna project, which the council will build will be the first of from 50 to 300 such buildings to go up in the country.

May Enroll 200
It is planned to have about 200 youths from 18 to 24 years old taking such courses as mathematics, blue print reading, drafting, mechanics' trade, welding, radio, electricity and sheet metal. Elmer Grebe, Outagamie county NYA supervisor, is taking applications from youths interested in the program at his office in the public library building here.

When the program is operating to full capacity the payroll for students and instructors is expected to be about $75,000 a year. Half of the operating cost of the building will be borne by the NYA and the other half by the vocational school, including light, heat, power and supplies. NYA engineers will erect the building with the aid of local labor, helped by some NYA youths.

Dinner Concludes V.F.W. Conference

Kaukauna—A dinner attended by 100 persons at Hotel Kaukauna concluded the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its auxiliary conferences here Sunday evening.

Max Streich, conference chairman, presented Mayor William J. Gantner, who spoke briefly. Others who talked were Jack Mocco, Green Bay, eighth district commander, and Armin B. Scheurle, Appleton, state department commander.

Mrs. Arthur Daharsch, state senior vice president of the auxiliary, dedicated a V.F.W. banner. Other officials at the conference were Mrs. James Brown, Appleton, state auxiliary president, Mrs. Urban Lanzo, Two Rivers, state flag bearer, Mrs. Ervin Tornow, Appleton, encampment chairman, and Mrs. Frank Mitchell, Kaukauna, rehabilitation chairman. On the dinner committee were Mrs. Harold Birkemeyer, Mrs. Nic Mertens, Mrs. George Egan and Mrs. Otto Ludtke.

Emma Konrad Funeral To Be Held Wednesday

Kaukauna—Funeral services for Miss Emma Konrad, 85, 306 W. Sixth street, who died Monday morning, will be held at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon at Fargo Funeral home and at 2 o'clock at Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church, with the Rev. Paul Th. ## Kaukauna Council to Study Budget Proposals for 1941

Kaukauna—Board of education members met with aldermen last night and submitted the school budget for next year, in general the same as for the present term. This and other department budgets will be up for discussion as the council meets at 7 o'clock tonight at the municipal building.

In 1932 a pay reduction put through by the council affected some teachers, and it is expected the council will be asked to restore the salary level this year.

City Employees union already has requested the council to raise wage scales affecting its members. The increases desired are $15 a month for park employees, $10 for bridge tenders, $10 for truck drivers, $10 for the assistant clerk and five cents an hour for hourly employees. Aldermen have met with representatives of the union, and a compromise is expected to be worked out.

Wages Restored
The council already has upped the wages of policemen and firemen.

Madison Lecturer to Talk on Conscription

Kaukauna—"Preparedness and Conscription" is the title of the lecture which will be given by Grant C. Haas, Madison current events commentator, at the world problems forum Thursday evening in the civic auditorium. Haas will outline the strategic plan of hemisphere defense of the United States and the preparedness program intended to carry out the plan.

Following the lecture the news of the week will be analyzed and interpreted, after which the forum group will take part in discussion and questions. No charge is made for the course.

Municipal Basketball League Will Organize

Kaukauna—Managers and players interested in organizing the municipal basketball league for another season will meet at 7:15 tonight at the vocational school. Several teams from last year have reserved places in the league. The Kaukauna Merchants topped the loop last season with a perfect record, while the Mellow Brews placed second. Tonight officers will be elected and the schedule drawn.

St. Mary Senior CYO Makes Plans for Play

Kaukauna—Plans for the production of a 3-act comedy, "Billy's Goat," were made last night at St. Mary's senior CYO met at the church hall. Miss Germaine Kalupa is the director. In the cast are Norbert Becker, Rita Belongea, Rosemary Seggelink, Evelyn Appleton, Grace Nagan, Ted Weber, Alois Hooymann, Jerry Meyer, Jeanette O'Donnell and Eleanor Hooymann.

County Garage Is Taking Shape

Rush Construction to Finish Project Before
Onset of Bad Weather

Kaukauna—The new county garage situated directly east of Kaukauna Lumber and Manufacturing company and north of the quarry is rapidly taking shape, with workmen hurrying to complete construction before winter really sets in. Oscar J. Boldt construction company of Appleton has the contract.

The building will be 80 by 40 feet, of concrete block and brick construction. Some of the room beams are now in place and the brickwork is beginning.

In September the council authorized the board of public works to enter into an agreement with the county board for erection of the garage, whereby the city would furnish the site. The project first drew attention last spring, when it became known the county was considering such a building. It was argued that Kaukauna had been overlooked when such improvements were made, and a special committee of the council was appointed to negotiate with the county board.

Arnold Krueger, Outagamie county highway commissioner, inspected various possible sites in the city and chose the present location, assisted by Frank M. Charlesworth, Kaukauna city engineer.

Trades School Will Offer 4 New Courses

Kaukauna—Four new courses, taught by circuit instructors, are already under way or will begin this month at Kaukauna Vocational school.

A course in cosmetology began Nov. 12 and will meet each Tuesday. Blue print reading starts Nov. 28, masonry Nov. 27 and painting and decorating Nov. 28. All of the classes are for workers engaged in these occupations.

Methodists to Have Thanksgiving Service

Kaukauna—A special Thanksgiving service will be held at 10:15 Thursday morning at Brokaw Memorial Methodist church, the Rev. L. F. Green, pastor, announced yesterday. The Epworth league meeting scheduled for that night has been postponed.

Talk on Child Health Is Scheduled for PTA

Kaukauna—Park school Parent Teachers association will meet tonight at the school, with Dr. Albert

A program will be given Tuesday evening at the parish hall of St. Patrick's Catholic church at Leona.

After spending the summer at their cottage at the Wolf river at Northport, Mr. and Mrs. William Kraske have gone to their home in Chicago.

The following will leave for deer hunting at their camp six miles from Winegar Thursday: Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Herschberger and son Lee of Hortonville, Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Hamreof Berlin, Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Ritchie and A. W. Ritchie of Royalton, and Paul Weisbrod of Manawa.

John Claasson and Ray Myer will leave Friday with a group of

B. Leigh to speak on "Children's Health and School Work." Mrs. Wilmer Johnson, PTA president, will report on the state convention at Marinette recently.

Mussolini's Invincibles are Still Advancing to the Rear

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York—To the historic honors won at Adowa, Caporetto, Guadalajara and Lissa, the dashing invincibles of Benito Mussolini have now added new glories, inflicted by the Greeks in Albania and the British at Taranto, where the duce's indomitable upheld the famous, if somewhat queer, traditions of their arms. To be sure, the flight of the irresistibles in Albania did not equal in magnitude the spectacular advance to the rear which has made Caporetto a name too sacred to be mentioned out in Italy, nor in speed and form with the magnificent feat of footwork achieved at Guadalajara in Spain. But, man for man, the forces which ran the Greeks to exhaustion over the mountains in recent days have no need to apologize to the survivors of Caporetto, and the heroes of Guadalajara will have to admit that they did their running on a faster and straighter track. After all, spirit counts for a great deal in Mussolini's scoring system, and the forces in Albania certainly deserved to be marked A in earnestness as they tore for home when the fighting started.

If there was any blame at all it belongs to the duce, in selecting for this contest a terrain in which the roads were narrow and winding and the curves improperly banked. Reports from the Greek side agree that the track was not at all suitable for championship performances. The conquering legions were compelled to slow down on the turns to pitch over the cliffs, and there were bottlenecks in which some of the slower members impeded men behind who were full of run and wanted only road room.

So, notwithstanding the fact that an extraordinary proportion of invincibles were caught the forces involved doubtless will receive from the duce the cherished right to wear the proud insignia of a cloud of dust, which is awarded to all distinguished regiments of his forces. This device, unlike the battle honors of other nations, is worn between the space between the shoulder blades, where it is most likely to impress an enemy. If it were worn in front, of course, no enemy would ever see it.

Now a Report on Best Type of Running Shoe

Undoubtedly the duce's quarter-master department will now be called on for a technical report on the efficiency of a type of running shoe worn by his invincibles in the flight from the Greeks. After Guadalajara, when so many casualties were found to be suffering from hob-nail wounds in the rear, it was decided to do something to abate

Weyauwega hunters for their camp near Hazelhurst.

A special Thanksgiving service will be held in the Congregational Sunday school on Sunday morning, Nov. 24. Each class will contribute one number for the program.

This hazard, and rubber spikes were substituted for a time, but were abandoned when the soldiers stewed them in gear grease and ate them for mussels, a great delicacy as long as they lasted. The more daring minds on the duce's staff proposed long, wicked sprinters' spikes and a mere shell of a shoe for the utmost speed and a regulation issue of tin-boddy armor in the sole of the pants to reduce casualties from tramping. But, after all, the imperial legions of the all-conquering will are not mere sprinters. They are distance runners, too, so we do not know whether they were using spikes in Albania where they ran a marathon race.

It is hard to see how Mussolini, can conscientiously honor the heroes of the naval engagement at Taranto on an equal scale with those of the old battle of Lissa. It is true that, on net results, they upheld the traditions of Lissa, but, after all, they didn't run away during the action. They had already run away and were hiding at the time, whereas, at Lissa, the Italian fleet not only achieved a historic defeat but followed that with a magnificent flight from the Austrians comparable, in sea warfare, to the most glorious feats of running ever recorded by the land forces.

If the duce starts rewarding men

Shiocton Teams in Practice Debates

Shiocton—Two non-decision debates were held Thursday afternoon at Shiocton High school on the question: Resolved, "that the power of the federal government should be increased." The visiting school was Kaukauna, with Tom Nolan coaching their teams.

The affirmative debaters from Kaukauna were Maurice Rosenblatt and Marion McGrath, and the Shiocton negative team included Ruby Last and Melvin Jarchow. Kaukauna's negative team, Magdalen Otte and James McGrath, debated Shiocton's affirmative team, Bernard Helsor and Daniel McGlone. Miss Mary Agnes Hurd coached the Shiocton teams.

Four Shiocton teams took part Friday afternoon in non-decision debates at Clintonville with four Clintonville teams on the same question.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Schmidt entertained their schafkopf club at their home Thursday evening. Women's high went to Mr. Ed Rueden and low to Mrs. Alvin Mielke; men's high to Tony Dirmeier and, low, to Alvin Mielke. Mrs. Tony Dirmeier received the carrying prize. Members present included Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Penn, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Mielke, Mr. and Mrs. William Rusch, Mr. and Mrs. Tony Dirmeier, Mr. and Mrs. George Bruchl, and daughter G-rmaine and Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rueden and daughter Marion.

Mr. and Mrs. Sammie Laird returned to their home here Thursday, having spent the last week at the home of the former's sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Wilson at Bayfield, Wis. They were called to Bayfield due to her illness, which they reported improved. Weather conditions in the north, however, prolonged their stay.

For inartistic defeats he will cheapen his honors, and his imperial hosts will begin to sock themselves on the chin just to win medals for their shoulder blades.

In the duce's hosts of land, sea and air, two elements should always be combined in any tradition—performance, defeat and flight. Taranto was not entirely in the best tradition.

Peace and a War of Thirty Years

General Dawes says that England learned at Narvik of the tremendous difficulties in landing troops against land and air resistance whereas Germany has recoiled at the peril of landing troops in England, and concludes that if each side in this struggle is able to husband its resources and receive constant assistance elsewhere the struggle will probably stretch out to a 30-year period.

The General had in mind the Thirty Years War which consumed the people and wealth of Europe from 1618 to 1648. Like every other titanic struggle it offers some light upon the present war. Sometimes years must pass after a conflict is concluded before it is possible to get the truth concerning both its causes and its conduct.

The Thirty Years War was on its face a religious war. But in fact it was a struggle for trade, markets, rivers, lands and prestige. This war is on its face a battle between free people and enslaved people but in reality the causes that led up to it were precisely those that brought on the Thirty Years War.

The victors in 1618 pared Germany too closely, cut into the quick flesh too far, visited too much ruin upon her industries and destroyed a large share of her prestige which humiliated and angered her beyond measure. German leaders have restlessly sought a way to regain the position of power and prestige occupied before World War No. 1. They figured it was impossible to do so through the means of a democracy. That was an important reason having to do with the destruction of the German republic. In order to cement unity at home cruel and drastic measures are taken against criticism or individual thinking. And in order to assist in unity of thought preposterous statements are made against democracy and its works. This gives Germany's enemies a fine opportunity to raise up public opinion against the Reich, and that opinion has become almost unanimous against it.

There is a fair comparison between the prevailing struggle, or any great war, and the Thirty Years War even though the reasons that befog the genuine issues are not always the same. In 1618 the Protestants were convinced that Catholic leaders were the arch criminals of the world, and the Catholics were convinced that the Protestant leaders were anti-Christ itself. Thus the arm of the individual was strengthened as it hammered at the enemy. Some of the princes engaged were also convinced of the issue but many of them were not. Thus we find Catholic France secretly providing Protestant Sweden with gold because she wished Catholic Austria to be humbled more than she cared whether Protestantism rose or fell in Sweden.

During the Thirty Years War nations bowed themselves in and bowed themselves out of the battle lines as their interests seemed to dictate. North Germany was pretty well united on one side. South Germany was led by Austria on the other. Denmark, Sweden, Holland, France and Spain participated as visions appeared of advantage and withdrew when the visions faded.

Eventually peace came. Actually this peace was in process of negotiation for the last five years of the war while the armies still battled, razed cities and sacked and slew civilians with as little concern as a berserk bomber in the skies today.

And thus we come to General Dawes' suggestion of peace. But it is too early for peace. Our political campaign painted peace seekers as appeasers and the word has been taken on an unpleasant sound.

So we are in the situation of reviling any person who suggests a negotiated peace although for the real benefit of humanity such a peace once or twice in a century has been the only solution of European ills and rivalries.

If American rulers saw the European situation for what it really is, a battle for trade and prestige, they would undertake peace negotiations.

We helped negotiate peace between Paraguay and Bolivia a few years ago and brought to a conclusion one of the bloodiest and most desperate wars ever waged since men stood up and shot each other down. Few could tell today what that war in South America was about excepting that it related to a place called the Chaco. In reality it was just a branch of the European conflict of today, a battle for lands, rivers, commerce and prestige. But it was as important to the countries involved as the conflict in Europe is to the countries there. And it was concluded by a compromise whereby each obtained something and surrendered something.

America is intensely interested in securing peace for the battling nations since it is quite inevitable that after we have sent war materials to Britain for a time and lent her credits for a time the occasion will arise when men will be sent.

And then we will again be in the European cockpit and due for a war every ten or twenty years.

"What Job Is the Best for Me?"

One of the tough and knotty problems that has always staggered men relates to selecting a work most suitable to the tendencies and talents of an individual. It is often a puzzle to youth and no less puzzling to many of age and experience.

But the studies and efforts of Dr. E. K. Strong, beginning in 1923 when he headed Carnegie Institute's department of vocational education down to today when he speaks from Stanford's Graduate School of Business point to a trail blazed some distance into the wilderness.

Dr. Strong was stimulated to undertake this vast endeavor when he found great companies trying to solve it and observed their worries as they tried to guide employes into the type of work at which they would be best, therefore happiest and most productive. The solution seemed vague but the fruit of success was so obvious both to worker and employer that it was no time to concede defeat because little impression had been made at the task by others. Starting in the fields of designing, production and sales a workable and practicable test prepared by faithful adherence to detail now exists covering 24 occupations. Its success has been such that it is devoted in part to the assistance of college students in selecting a career.

The test is based upon research facts concerning the talents and inclinations of the subject and his natural though often subconscious interests. The test was prepared concerning each occupation after a prolonged examination of numerous persons in that occupation who had succeeded. It was found that the successful ones answered a high percentage of the searching questions in the same manner. Experience for almost two decades has given approval to the doctor's original theory. Already many men have followed the advice provoked by the test to their advantage and others who were lost or bewildered, dissatisfied or defeated have been induced to return to a lead that proved correct. The more schools of higher learning have investigated and examined the Strong method the more they have accepted it as a helpful guide.

As humanity scrutinizes its record for important rules to improve its course it boldly declares that great advancement is invariably made when the right man can be put at the right job. A contented person is created and the sum total of achievement and progress is increased and bettered. But Dr. Strong's victory has even a greater value. It signifies that men will not be baffled by obscurity and will not surrender because the solution of a perplexing problem does not make itself manifest. The persistence of restless and resourceful minds has scaled many blank walls that seemed to reach to the clouds.

Dr. Strong has demonstrated that when he went to work on this problem it was the right man at the right job.

Authority in the Capitol

There are some aspects of the state government administration under Governor Heil which call for clarification, now that the election is over and our state officers for the next two years are available for duty again.

Considerable confusion has grown up in the state government in recent months as a result of the creation by the last legislature of the division of departmental research. Governor Heil chose August Frey of Milwaukee to run that bureau.

Now it appears that Mr. Frey's primary function as defined by the statute—investigation of state department structures, functions and purposes, and recommendation of changes in organization and procedure—has been relegated to the background while Frey has assumed the jobs by law held by two other state government department heads.

While any work which the research bureau itself has initiated appears to have lapsed—we hear no more of the investigations of the conservation and highway departments—Mr. Frey has undertaken to supervise state personnel and state purchases.

The state government already has executives for those jobs, A. J. Opstedal as director of the bureau of personnel, and F. X. Ritger, as director of purchases. Yet we hear it admitted that Frey has become the final authority on hiring and buying in the capitol.

Legally, of course, such things cannot be. That they are being done probably means that Messrs. Opstedal and Ritger, as officers whose jobs are in the control of the governor, prefer to allow Frey's invasion of their rights rather than lose favor in the executive office, because it is apparent that Frey is one of the governor's advisors.

The whole proceeding is irregular and improper, and ought to be corrected.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY ROUND

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

Washington—Dies committee agents have secretly warned government authorities to be on guard against an outbreak of sabotage in defense plants on the west coast.

According to the Dies-men, biggest U. S. danger spot is Los Angeles, where nazi and communist fifth columnists have been usually active of late. The Los Angeles area contains one of the largest concentrations of defense work in the country.

One reason for the Dies-men's fear was their discovery of a secret mailing list of 2,500 names in a raid on the Los Angeles headquarters of the German-American bund. Herman Schwinn, west coast bund fuhrer, admitted, under questioning, that the list consisted of nazi sympathizers who regularly attended bund meetings.

A check-up of the name revealed the startling fact that 800 of them are employed in airplane plants, shipyards, oil refineries, auto factories and other key defense industries.

One of the thickest dossiers in the Dies committee files concerns Schwinn and his activities, dating back to 1924, when he entered the country as a German immigrant. Among the items in his long record is an account of an extraordinary speech Schwinn made recently to bundists in Hinderburg Park, Los Angeles.

Shrieking defiance against a federal court order revoking his citizenship, Schwinn is recorded as saying, "As long as I have a voice and a mike, I will damn well say what I please. The persecutions I have gone through in this country have made me a better German than I was before. They cannot stop up thinking, and feeling here is becoming stronger for Germany every day."

"There will be a new world order guaranteed by Germany, Italy and Japan, and the new order will come whether Churchill and Roosevelt like it or not."

EXIT JOE KENNEDY

Intimates of Ambassador Joe Kennedy are offering bets that he will not return to the court of St. James.

They are not taking much chance of losing money, for while publicity Joe has expressed his willingness to go back, the inside fact is that Kennedy tried to resign at his last conference with the president. Roosevelt firmly refused to consider it.

"Who could I send over in your place, Joe?" he protested.

Kennedy contended that he wasn't needed in London. "Judging by the amount of work I turned in during the last two months over there," he argued, "I'd say almost anyone could qualify for the job. You know I like to keep busy, but all I did over there was to sit around and watch the war."

But Roosevelt rejected this argument and insisted that Kennedy think it over "for a couple of weeks." From his private remarks since then, Kennedy still seems determined to quit.

Several very tempting business offers have been made to him; one from a large newspaper chain which he helped refinance several years ago. He has made no final decision, but returning to London definitely seems the last thing he intends to do.

SPANISH BRIBE

The career clique of fascist-minded appeasers inside the state department has dwindled in size and strength since Europe's tragic history proved the fallacy of their course in Spain. However, they are still strong enough to urge a loan (or gift) of $100,000,000 from the export-import bank to General Franco, dictator of Spain.

Furthermore, it may be that the career clique will get away with it.

They urge that the hundred millions be advanced to Spain in order to keep Franco from coming into the war against England. They claim that if Spain has enough food, the country will remain neutral. And it is the British, whose fumbling in Spain was even more responsible than ours for the present danger to Gibraltar, who now want the United States to bail them out with a hundred million dollars.

Confidential military reports from Spain, however, indicate three things: First, the Spanish people are so fed up with three years of bloody civil war that they won't fight in any foreign war not of their choosing; Second, Spain is so badly defended that her harbors would be easy targets for the British fleet; Third, the Spanish people actually are near revolt, which is the secret reason why Franco wants the hundred million. Without food, the old Loyalist government might come back again.

In other words, it looks as if the career clique inside the state department is still trying to keep in power the man they secretly backed during the Spanish civil war.

Note—It is unlikely that Spain has been too valuable as a neutral through which supplies, foreign agents, and even food could be smuggled. Much of Spain's food shortage comes because Franco used wheat to pay for arms he received from Germany.

Probability is that if the British put arms in the hands of Franco's growing political opposition, they would have an army in Spain which would completely neutralize the axis there. The Loyalists are still ready to fight, but against Franco, not for him.

DR. TOWNSEND APPEASES

Senator Downey of California and Dr. Francis Townsend are pals once more. They split during the campaign.

The gaunt tycoon of the old age pension movement, after wangling a letter from Senator McNary which promised nothing, but which Townsend claimed was an endorsement of pensions, plumped for Wendell Willkie. Whereupon Downey, who is the No. 1 Townsendite on Capitol Hill, and who had been cool to the third term, jumped vigorously into the fray on the president's side.

And the Californian cut a lot of ice. He not only offset the "old Doc" among his followers, but was an antidote to Senator Hiram Johnson when he came out for Willkie. Downey also put in some telling ticks for Senator Bob LaFollette in his very uncertain battle for re-election.

Townsend, who tries to run his movement with an iron fist, was very peeved at Downey's independence and when the senator tried to see the "old Doc" in Chicago during the campaign, Townsend gave him the cold shoulder. But the election returns changed Townsend's mind.

This was the second presidential fight in which he took a licking. In 1936 he had teamed up with Father Coughlin behind William Lemke, who wound up with a few hundred thousand votes. Also, the big Democratic congressional victory was no solace to Townsend. So he went to Washington and, hat in hand, went to Downey's office and made his peace.

However, he still has to placate a number of Democratic members of the pension bloc in the house. During the campaign some of them talked of replacing Townsend with someone more politically adept.

WHITHER AMERICA?

Editor, Post-Crescent — Lincoln said "You can fool part of the people part of the time but you can not fool all of the people all of the time."

It is not the objective of certain groups in this country to do this. Their objective is to fool most of the people at the present time; later on when the people do find out the futility of our entering the war it will be too late.

Trick words and catch phrases are appearing just as in 1916-1917. In fact they are using the same words and phrases.

"British foreign minister Grey told Ambassador Page before our entry into the first World War, 'America must remember that we are fighting her fight as well as our own.'"

To make the world safe for democracy is another one.

To give freedom and better living conditions to the mass of the people.

"To uphold the honor of written agreements."

"The right of self determination for the people of Europe." What did the war accomplish?

The American people found out after the war was over the following facts:

1. That the common people of Europe received none of the benefits of these great objectives for which they were supposed to be fighting and dying.

Democracy and their right to govern themselves for their own benefit suffered as a result of the war.

Their living standards fell. The coal miners of Wales are one example of the terribly low economic conditions brought on the people by the war.

Dictatorship sprang up throughout Europe.

The victors in the war created states and divided peoples to suit their own whims and fancies.

The American people found out also that the "war to end all wars" was just a trick phrase to get them in it.

Also that the war was a clash between empires and alliances for their own benefits in economic and political supremacy. Democracy had nothing to do with this war, for instance Czarist Russia, where freedom was unknown was an ally of Britain and France.

The people also found out that the British government spent millions of dollars in this country to arouse hatred against the Germans in this country in order to get us into the war.

Sir Gilbert Parker, chief of the British propagandists in this country stated after the war that "the American people are the most glib people in the world except for the Chinese."

Also that the honor of written agreements was pure bunk for instance the British and French war debts to the United States. But here are the results of the first World war which we participated in.

Increased hatred and distrust among European nations which are the foundations of the present war. Here are the costs of the war:

The war lasted 1565 days.

65,000,000 mobilized or forced to participate.

9,000,000 died in action or of wounds.

22,000,000 were wounded.

7,000,000 permanently disabled.

5,000,000 men were reported missing after the war.

Civilian deaths were slightly in excess of the number of soldier deaths that is more than 9,000,000.

The total direct net cost of the war in dollars was 186,000,000,000.

Plus property damage on land of 30,000,000,000 dollars. On sea 7,000,000,000 dollars. Losses to neutrals 2,000,000,000.

Can any thinking person believe that the results justified the cost?

The present war if fought to bitter conclusion will exceed in cost the last one.

A negotiated peace is the only hope for Europe and the world.

This type of peace does not sow the seeds of hatred as heavily as a victorious peace.

This should be America's mission, a truly Christian mission, a tribute to Jesus Christ, rather than a course which will find us paying tribute to Mars the mythical god of war.

Here are two courses of philosophy.

The one of Jesus Christ.

1. "Peace on earth good will to men."

2. "Blessed are the peacemakers."

3. "Feed the hungry and clothe the naked."

The one of William Allen White and associates.

1. "Appausement is treason to democracy."

A. Appausement means to them any attempt at a negotiated peace.

b. Their desire to see the war fought to a victorious end by England regardless of the cost to world.

I believe that a Christian nation such as the United States can follow but one course, the course and pathway of Christ if we would be of service to our fellow man.

Just a Step Behind the News

By Dave Boone

Well, Mussolini is never going to take a backward step as long as his voice holds out.

"I will never turn back," he says, which must be slightly annoying to those soldiers who had to have something besides a microphone to depend on in the harrowing fight they've just been through with those Greeks. It's a good deal like the old order to the man who had been thrown down five times and stood up.

Benito insists he is marching side by side with Hitler, but he don't specify that they are facing in the same direction.

He says the British story of that attack on those battleships at Taranto was an untruth, and you know how dictators hate anything that ain't 100 per cent truthful. From Mussolini's version I figure there were three Italian warships in the bay and that after the British attack there were four.

What was the purpose of his speech to the people at this time, anyhow, if everything is going okay. Whenever a fighter starts talking he is either losing confidence or razing his seconds.

Maybe Benito is trying to say that the British score at Taranto is illegal because it was made on a sick day.

The Glory That Is Still Greece

Under the CAPITOL DOME

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

Madison — Watch for an attempt by the Republican legislature next session to lick the long-ignored but highly important problem of the teachers' retirement fund deficit by some ingenious tampering with the teachers' retirement fund law itself.

The retirement fund deficit — which has grown by leaps and bounds during the last several years when the retirement fund income surtax failed to produce sufficient revenues to meet the state's matched share of the teachers' pension assessments — now amounts to four or five million dollars. There has been no real attempt to liquidate the deficit. The LaFollette administration ignored the debt until after defeat in the 1938 election, when Heil's action in the courts stopped the belated attempt. The Heil administration has been hog-tied by a slender treasury.

CATLIN AND CATLIN

Curiously enough the man who probably will introduce a program to wipe out the deficit is Mark Catlin, Jr., son of former Assemblyman Mark Catlin, Sr., who a score of years ago was in a measure responsible for the passage of the original retirement plan for teachers. Catlin is now beginning his third term in the seat occupied by his father in 1921.

The young assemblyman, who introduced some changes in the 1939 session, will be back with several ideas for revising the teachers' retirement program.

One probably will be a proposal to prevent the withdrawal of state funds credited to an account when a teacher withdraws from the system upon retiring.

Still another which may be brought forward would stop the crediting of interest on that part of the fund's assets represented by state contributions to teachers' accounts. If that interest were devoted to wiping out the deficit accrued, it would help, it was pointed out.

Still another proposal may suggest a minimum benefit period. Thus if a teacher withdrew from teaching after working only a few years, she would forfeit her account.

Another departure which has been suggested proposes to set a salary ceiling for eligibility, similar to the social security act limitations, on the theory that it is not necessary for the state to provide retirement benefits for high salaried educational workers.

BUDGET SCARE

Some of the state's fiscal advisers have expressed consternation at the tentative budget requests filed by state welfare officials. Pension requests, particularly, are far higher than administration officials had hoped they would be, and painstaking efforts are now being made to whittle them down.

Despite all the optimism displayed in some sources, the pension peak is not yet here. And even had it been reached, the increases in caseload from the period in 1938 when the present budget was prepared have been so high that drastic increases in funds would be necessitated nevertheless.

SHEARER HONOR?

Republican spokesmen are free in their opinions that the legislative joint finance committee during the coming session must consist of stiff-backed men who can resist the appeals for more funds which will inevitably be aired.

Although it is unlikely that Chairman Otto Mueller of Wausau will be displaced (he probably wouldn't mind for his job is the hardest chore in the legislature), there is some feeling that Mueller must show a fiercer parsimony this time than he did in 1938.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.
Noted Physician and Author

INFORMAL PREHEARSAL

Without a "cold cure" or a sure fire means of "breaking it up" how can one best meet the attack of cri? What do I mean "cri?" Any of the Common Respiratory Infections in the stage of onset before you can tell what the illness is going to be. You can be reasonably certain it is cri (kree), that is, a Common Respiratory Infection and by calling it that name you are at least playing fair with your friends or associates and with yourself, for you are not peddling without warning pestilence or maybe disaster indiscriminately among those unfortunate enough to be within your conversational spray range, nor on the other hand are you trifling with what, for all you know, may prove to be meningitis, pneumonia, infantile paralysis, measles, flu or whatnot. That's what I mean by "cri."

Adults coming down with cri should be extremely reluctant and children should never be permitted to take a nostrum that purports to be good for "colds," grip and other troubles. Nearly all such nostrums contain and depend for their chief effect upon a coal tar derivative such as acetanilide, phenacetin, antipyrin, aminopyrin or aspirin, (acetyl-salicylic acid, or some similar pain-killer, nerve or sense deadener or temperature reducer. These coal tar analgesics dull one's sense or consciousness of ache, pain, malaise, fatigue or anxiety or weakness only at the expense of the natural means of self-defense. For one thing they interfere with the oxygen carrying function of the hemoglobin (coloring matter) in the blood and so impose upon whatever illness may be present the additional danger of anoxia, insufficient supply of oxygen to the vital functional cells and organs.

If I were in any great pain or distress and could not reach a physician I might take a dose of five or ten grains of acetyl-salicylic acid (any aspirin, whichever my druggist might sell at lowest price), and if that failed to bring a fair measure of relief I might even chance a second dose an hour or two later, but not any more. I'd prefer the ordinary discomfort of mild headache, malaise or indisposition or a tolerable pain in the neck to the hazard of damage to blood or heart by pain-killer drugs.

In any circumstances I should NOT indulge in the analgesic unless I could lie down and rest at least two hours immediately. To my mind the poor geek who takes such dope and keeps up and about courts disaster.

Shearer's Honor?

Republican spokesmen are free in their opinions that the legislative joint finance committee during the coming session must consist of stiff-backed men who can resist the appeals for more funds which will inevitably be aired.

Although it is unlikely that Chairman Otto Mueller of Wausau will be displaced (he probably wouldn't mind for his job is the hardest chore in the legislature), there is some feeling that Mueller must show a fiercer parsimony this time than he did in 1938.

Award $1,000 In New London Floodway Case

Settlement Made Out Of Court; City Will Pay Miss Rasmussen

New London—A claim of $15,000 against the city of New London for work done by the late R. B. Rasmussen on the floodway course west of the city was settled for $1,000 in circuit court of Judge H. J. Severson at Waupaca Monday, according to City Attorney Ormond W. Capener. The case was settled without a jury. Miss Anna Rasmussen, sister of the late R. B. Rasmussen, had appealed the case. The settlement included full payment for perpetual flowage rights over 40 additional acres of Rasmussen property west of the city limits, insuring the city against all damage which might be caused by water over that acreage in the future, and granting the use of all present drainage ditches in the tract. Of the $1,000 settlement, $225 was considered as payment for the land, $300 in payment of the work done by Rasmussen in cutting the 2,863-foot ditch which ran through it before the city arranged for further excavation, and $475 was paid for the flowage rights over the other 40 acres.

The sum of $225 was the value set on the nine acres of land by a county jury in condemnation proceedings last fall. Testifying as to the value of the ditch dug by Rasmussen, City Engineer Robert M. Connelly estimated the probable cost at $1,400, for which the city settled for $300, Capener explained.

Included in the 40 acres of land on which the city secured flowage rights is a continuation of the excavated floodway canal which carries the flood waters another mile west to empty into Carew creek and the Big Eddy of the Wolf river.

The settlement will be explained by City Attorney Capener before the regular meeting of the common council at the city hall this evening.

Sale of Deer Tags Is Slow at New London

New London—Though deer hunters are making thorough preparations for the buck season and are waiting anxiously for its opening Saturday, deer tag sales have been slow in New London up to Monday, according to agents handling the tickets. With most agents unavailable on Thanksgiving day, hunters are expected to make a rush for tags on Friday although a brisk demand is expected Wednesday. About 190 tags have been sold in New London each of the last two seasons.

Handling the tags as deputies of the county clerk are George Meertz, M. J. Heinz, Emil Gehrke, Harvey Romberg at the First State Bank, and Rudy Ploetz at the Farmers Oil Cooperative.

Intramural Basketball Teams Will Compete in Tournament

New London—Boys' intramural basketball teams were organized at Washington High school last week with 20 in Class A and 32 in Class B. Tournament play will begin Wednesday and continue with two games every Wednesday and Friday afternoon until Jan. 31. First and second half champions are scheduled to decide the division championship on Feb. 5 with the all-school title contest slated for Feb. 12.

The teams are as follows: Class A, Gophers, Jack Collier, captain.

Buelow Scores New Pin High

Tops Goodfellowship Loop With 10-Strike
Game for 242 Count

New London—Ten strikes by Erv Buelow were marred by two splits in league kegling at Prah's alleys last night but the resulting 242 count was labeled a new high mark in the Goodfellowship loop. With counts of 208 and 268 he totaled a 618 series to top both records.

His teammates, the Cedar Lawn quint, dropped two games to the leading Ebert's Bar while the Ford Tractors crept up in second with two wins over Leo's Bars. Frappy clunked 543 for Eberts.

Lions Club League

The Tamers broke up the loop tie by trimming the Growlers two games to take the lead. Dave Vanderveer of the winners paced the loop with a 541 count, Herb Gresenz counting a 207 line for the losers. Dr. H. C. Schmaltzberger cracked 190 and 501 to lead the Roarers in two victories over the Twisters. Frank Woodberry slapped a 190 game for the latter.

Keplers of the Inter-County league rolled unofficial games because too many members didn't appear but Lloyd Davis of the New London quint grooved a 231 line, which would have set a loop record. The circuit is looking for more bowlers to fill the ranks.

Railway Officials Are Guests of Club

New London—Officials of the Green Bay and Western railroad were guests of the New London Rotary club at its regular luncheon meeting at the Elwood hotel Monday noon.

The speaker was L. C. Jorgenson, Green Bay, general freight and traffic manager of the road. He spoke on the railroad industry in general, pointing out its importance to national defense and its cooperation with the national defense program. His taxation problems, and particularly its improved service in speed and facilities during the last 20 years.

Other guests were D. L. Nord, district freight and passenger agent, and Mr. Clemens, district freight agent for the Western Refrigerator Express company. The club observed the birthday anniversary of Henry Hamilton and his cake was purchased by L. M. Warner, the proceeds going into the club's eye-glass fund.

Drinks, Drives, Pays $50 Fine

New London Man Is Arrested as Result Of Traffic Accident

New London—Albert Balke, 1002 Montgomery street, pleaded guilty of drunken driving and paid a fine of $50 and costs in police court of Justice Fred J. Rogers Monday. His driver's license was suspended until he can show proof of financial responsibility.

His arrest followed an accident on Shawano street about 2:15 Monday morning in which he admitted his car struck and damaged a car driven by Arthur Hazen, Weyauwega. The porch to the home of Sam Bruce, 511 Shawano street, also was damaged by Balke's car when it left the street and stopped against the building.

Hazen was paid $1250 in police court Monday for damages to his car. No one was injured. Hazen was driving south and Balke was going north when the accident occurred.

Rotary Club Views Films of Western Trip

Clintonville—A. A. Weber, president of the Shawano Veneer and Plywood company, was a guest of the Clintonville Rotary club at its Monday noon luncheon at Hotel Marston. He showed colored motion pictures of a motor trip through the west which he and his family took last August. Mr. Weber gave a description of the trip while the pictures were being shown. Among the scenic places visited were the Bad Lands of Dakota, the Black Hills and Yellowstone National park. Forrest Schaefer of Marion was also a guest at the luncheon.

It was announced at the meeting that W. A. Olen, a member of the club, had been appointed by President Roosevelt to serve on the district draft board, which will consider appeals from the local boards on the coming conscription of young men for army service.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Milbauer and Mrs. E. A. Miller of this city and their guest, Mrs. Nicholas Lalor of Evanston, Wyo., spent Sunday at Madison with their daughter and niece, Miss Inez Milbauer, who is taking post-graduate work at the University of Wisconsin.

Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Patterson visited at Madison Saturday with their son, Raymond, a senior in the school of mechanical engineering at the university. They were accompanied there by their daughter, Mae, who attends the Oshkosh State Teachers College.

Mrs. Evelyn Gail, 827 E. Wolf river avenue, left New London Sunday to make her home with a sister at Neenah.

Play Is Completed in Class B Shoe Tourney

New London—LeRoy Rodgers and Jack Worm won the Class B horse shoe doubles tournament completed at Washington High school last week. The Class A tourney is still in progress.

Women's volleyball teams will be organized at the gym at 7:30 this evening.

High School Will Be Host to Debate Teams

New London—An invitational debate tournament will be held at New London High school on Saturday, Nov. 30, it was announced Monday by Victor Gimmedstad, forensics instructor. Invitations to 15 schools in the New London area were mailed Monday. A Class A and B tournament will be held simultaneously.

Artist to Begin Work Soon On Statue of Jean Nicolet

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
Madison—One of Wisconsin's best known artists will soon begin work in his Lake Geneva studio on the eight foot bronze statue in memory of Jean Nicolet, first white man to see what is now the Fox river valley and Wisconsin.

Sidney Bedore, former Green Bay resident, will begin work on the Nicolet memorial statue for the state capitol park as soon as the contract for the commission has been completed, he said last week at Lake Geneva.

About a year ago the sculptor presented a two foot model for the study of the memorial commission,

Debaters Win 8 Of 12 Contests

Clintonville—In the Northeastern Wisconsin Debate Tournament held at Neenah Saturday, Nov. 16, Clintonville debaters won eight out of twelve debates. In the "A" tournament, which represents the official conference rating, the Clintonville teams took four out of six encounters. Students taking part in this group included Margaret Fritz, Leroy Korb, Joan Stein and Jeanne Krause. Their rating gave them second place among the nine schools represented.

In the "B" tournament, which gave an opportunity for many more students to take part, Clintonville won four out of six debates. Those taking part in this group were Willis Greb, James Knister, Pat Murphy, Phyllis Schauder and Ruth Moldenhauer.

Considering both groups it was found that Clintonville, Shawano and Kewaunee had won the greatest number of clashes with a total of eight. Both local teams debated against teams from Shawano, Neenah, Kewaunee, Two Rivers, Oconto and Algoma.

On Saturday, Dec. 7, a speech institute conducted by the Wisconsin High School Forensic association in connection with the speech department of the University of Wisconsin will be held at Clintonville. Information regarding this event is now being distributed to all the high schools in this section of the state.

The circulation department of the Appleton Post-Crescent is represented in Clintonville by James Bohr, 46 Main street. Orders for subscriptions may be left with him. Subscribers missed by carrier should call Mr. Bohr, telephone 5571, before 7 p. m.

Red Cross Roll Call Underway in All Five Wards at Clintonville

Clintonville—The annual Red Cross roll call, under the chairmanship of Francis M. Higgins, is now underway and all five city wards are being canvassed by volunteer workers, as well as the surrounding townships.

With the roll call only partially complete in the town of Larrabee, memberships and contributions now total more than $30, or about three times as much as last year, according to Mrs. David Ellis, rural Red Cross roll call chairman of the Clintonville chapter. The roll call in the town of Larrabee was under the direction of Mrs. George Below, assisted by Mrs. Clyde Jorgenson, Mrs. H. E. Pomrenning and Mrs. Carl Schaub.

Thirty-three $1 memberships have been secured, as compared to eleven memberships for the previous year, and contributions amount to $1645, as compared to $190 for last year. This is a preliminary report and additional memberships and contributions have been promised the workers.

Granted Permit to Build New Residence

Edwin Krueger, 1425 S. Oneida street, was given a permit Monday by the city building inspector to erect a residence at 228 W. Seymour

County Board Hears Report Of Road Chief

Several Bridges are Built or Repaired
During Last Year

Waupaca—Highway Commissioner Charles W. Larson reported Monday to the county board on construction work carried out by his department during the year. Two miles of County Trunk B in the town of Scandinavia, east of the Portage county line, were graded and graveled. Four miles on County Trunk G north and east of the village of Big Falls were also graded and graveled as was one mile in the town of Helvela.

During the year several bridges on the county trunk system were repaired or reconstructed. Indian Crossing on County Trunk Q in the town of Farmington was ripped-rapped and a new guard rail built. Abutments were ripped-rapped and the bridge over the North Branch of the Little Wolf river on County Trunk J, town of Wyoming, was repaired and painted. In the town of Mukwa a new twenty foot steel arch bridge on reinforced concrete abutments replaces the old one which was beyond repair. This is on County Trunk W. With the old bridge washed out completely in the town of Lind on County Trunk A, a new 20-foot waterway steel I-beam concrete bridge was constructed and a 10-foot one with a 24-foot roadway constructed in the town of Lind on County Trunk EE.

Many Oiling Jobs

Asphaltic oil mat jobs were placed on the following county highways during the year: B, four miles from the village of Scandinavia west to the Portage county line; E, west of the village of Ogdensburg, three miles; C, west of the city of Clintonville to F, six miles; BB from the State Highway 22 east to B in the town of Little Wolf, two miles; CC, east of the village of Embarras to the Shawano county line, five miles; EE, town of Lind, two miles; F, from State Highway 161, north for eight miles; I, town of Matteson, from the Embarras river east to Outagamie county line, six miles; O, town of Bear Creek, from United States Highway 45 west and south to State Highway 22, nine miles; P, town of Harrison, from State Highway 49 north to Shawano county line, five miles; T, town of Lebanon, three miles and X from the city of Weyauwega south and west to Waushara county line, seven miles.

In addition to the county oiling program, the department applied 83,600 gallons of asphaltic road oil on the various state trunk highways for patching, and approximately 161,000 was applied to town, village and city roads throughout the county, this being paid for by the local municipality. During the last year approximately 593,597 gallons of asphaltic road oil was applied to state, county, city, village and town roads throughout the county.

The largest building project outlined for the coming year will be the construction of a new bridge over the Wolf river in the town of Royallton, at an approximate cost of $65,000. Of this amount $25,000 is federal funds and the balance of $40,000 is what has been left from the last two periods of the bond issue.

The county board has allowed for another year a $30,000 oil job on county trunk roads; $25,000 for construction work; $14,000 for bridges on county trunks; $30,000 for snow removal and $5,000 for emergency bridge aid.

STOP FOR ARTERIALS

street. The home will be 30 feet long and 22 feet wide with a garage, 12 by 20 feet in size. The house will contain six rooms and will cost about $4,500.

Clapper Lauds New Deal for Dykstra, Millis Appointments

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—One curse of the Roosevelt administration has been the frequent appointment of misfits to administrative offices. I will not single out any of the misfits by name, because they are not vicious persons but on the contrary they usually have been persons of exceptionally high ideals and fully incorruptible either through money or social flattery. They have been misfits mainly because of defects of personality, or lack of practical experience, or because of abnormal preoccupation with long-range ideals rather than with competent workmanship in the offices to which they have been appointed. They have been inclined to function as crusaders rather than as craftsmen in public administration.

Their zeal has often backfired to damage the very cause to which they were so devoted. Their crusading often has interfered with successful operation of the agencies which were set up to carry out the objectives of the New Deal. Often the administration has seemed so absorbed in policy that it has neglected the laborious details of competent government.

But two recent major appointments set a new standard in administration into the New Deal.

The two appointments are those of Clarence A. Dykstra, as director of selective service, and Harry A. Millis as chairman of the National Labor Relations board. These are two college professors who have been seasoned by practical experience. Their work and their names are already known favorably in their previous fields of activity. Their performance has been such as to promise that they will acquit themselves with credit to the administration in their conspicuous and difficult national posts.

Dykstra came directly from the University of Wisconsin, of which he was president, to take over direction of the draft. As a college president and as a political-science professor he has worked for many years with young people. He understands them, knows what makes them tick, what stimulates and inspires them and what bores and disgusts them. He ought to know some of the things that will build morale in the draft forces. He ought to know some of the things that will send these young men back into civilian life as good soldiers and better men, with a feeling that they not only have given something to the nation but that they have received something in return.

Draft Can Create Stronger Citizenship

The draft can be made both a means of creating enormous military strength and of creating a stronger kind of democratic citizen. If anyone has the ability to turn this conception into practical reality, it is Dykstra. For his life has not been confined to theorizing in the Classroom. He has handled some of the toughest practical jobs—the most notable one being that of city manager for Cincinnati. One must get a very practical theorist indeed to get away with that kind of job.

Similarly Millis is no hermit of the classroom. He served here on the old National Labor Relations board and has handled countless labor cases, at present being umpire of disputes between General Motors and the United Automobile Workers. He was teaching economic theories before most of the New Dealers were born and he can take economic theories in his stride. They don't get in his way when he has a practical job of reconciling differences between an employer and his employees. His record is one that has inspired confidence all around for fairness, judicial impartiality and a talent for conciliation.

The National Labor Relations board is sadly in need of the Millis temperament and experience. He goes on the board at a critical time. Already there is on the board a colleague, Dr. William S. Leiserson, who has the same hard-headed practical experience and outlook. Together they have an opportunity to take this much manhandled agency and make it fulfill the very great and needed mission for which it was created.

Neither Dykstra nor Millis will get by without headaches and rough criticism, but no two men better fitted to their respective assignments could be found anywhere.

Walter A. Olen Named To Draft Appeal Board

Clintonville—Walter A. Olen, president of the Four Wheel Drive company, has been appointed to the Eighth district board of appeals for the selective service program.

Olen will serve with Dr. F. H. Kelly, Merrill, Theodore Brazeau, Wisconsin Rapids; Otto Wirth, Antigo; and Herman Pearson, Stevens Point. The Eighth district is composed of 10 counties, Oneida, Forest, Langlade, Lincoln, Taylor, Marathon, Wood, Portage, Waupaca, and Shawano.

Study Group Hears Topic On Migrants

Only foods which migrant workers help to cultivate and harvest were served at the migrant dinner of the Mission Study group at St. John Evangelical and Reformed church last night at the home of Miss Tillie Jahn, 521 N. Wood street. Accordingly, the menu consisted of tomato and orange juice, scalloped potatoes, peas and beans, fruit salad, cranberry sauce, bread, strawberry jam and blue berry pie. Meats, tea, coffee or dairy products were served.

Miss Helen Filz gave the topic on migrant work. Mrs. Herbert Baer told of the work churches are doing in establishing migrant centers, and Mrs. Alfred Wyro took charge of devotions. Miss Evelyn Brandt conducted the ingathering of the thank offering. The group will have a Christmas party for members of the congregation and friends at the next meeting, Monday, Dec. 16.

F. G. Wheeler will show travel movies at a meeting of the Brotherhood of Emmanuel Evangelical church at 8 o'clock tonight at the church. There will be a business meeting at 7:15.

A hayride party is planned by the junior high department of the Sunday school of First Methodist church for Friday night. The hayrack will leave the church at 7:30. Miss Betty Meyer is superintendent of the department.

Walter Resch, 645 Tayco street, Menasha, and Miss Vivian Richards, Niagara, will be married in Niagara Thanksgiving day morning in the Church of St. Anthony. The young couple will make its home in Menasha where Mr. Resch is employed.

The twenty-fifth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John Knaack, Sr., 721 E. Maple street, was celebrated Sunday night at Ashauer's hall. About 50 guests danced and played cards, and prizes were won by Mrs. John Baker, Charles Fischer and Mrs. Ed Knaack. In addition to Appleton people there were guests from Neenah and Combined Locks.

Winners at the card party given Monday afternoon at Odd Fellows hall by Deborah Rebecka Lodge were Mrs. J. B. Parish, Mrs. E. Hoffman and Mrs. Iva Fletcher at bridge, and Mrs. James Moore, Mrs. Dan Minnick and Mrs. John Moll at schafkopf.

We also wish to thank the Women of the Moose, Appleton Women's Bowling Association and the Women's Association of the Congregational Church for their participation.

We are also indebted to Diderrich's, Brettschneider Furniture Co. and Memorial Drive Florists for their contributions.

Brotherhood Stages Annual Church Party
Auctioning a boy, with the various professions and careers bidding against crime, was a feature of the program at the annual church party of First English Lutheran church last night in Fellowship hall. The party was sponsored by the Brotherhood.

Old-fashioned spelling bees and quiz sessions were conducted, and an old-fashioned barn dance was put on by a group. Several pupils of Beverly Breining's school of the dance gave numbers, a juvenile string ensemble played and a trio composed of George Weinfurter, Jr., Roman Meyer and Robert Vanderrinden, sophomores at Appleton High school, sang. Community singing took place also. Martin Gauerke and Harry Junge were in charge of the program and the Brotherhood served refreshments. About 300 persons were present.

19 New Members In Scout Chorus
Nineteen new members have joined the Appleton Girl Scout chorus in the last couple of weeks. ## Infant Welfare Circle in Call for Volunteer Knitters

A call for volunteer knitters went out today from the Infant Welfare circle of Appleton King's Daughters, which has become a branch of Bundles for Britain, Inc., and is joining other units of the organization in "sending friendship across the sea."

Yarn and instruction sheets can be obtained from Mrs. Guy McCorsion, 832 E. College avenue. Financial donations may be given to her when the wool is obtained, or may be sent to Mrs. James Bergstrom, president of the circle.

Warm clothing and medical supplies for the armed forces of Great Britain and their families are desperately needed, the circle has announced, and Appleton residents who want to help can do so by contributing to Bundles for Britain through the Infant Welfare circle of Appleton King's Daughters.

One of the tasks of Bundles for Britain is to outfit the 5,000 British seamen who took over the 50 American destroyers recently traded to England. For this one project 1,400 more pairs of heavy white sea-boot stockings are needed. The national organization already has 3,000. At least 1,000 coats have been sent for children in air raid shelters; and Bundles for Britain is putting on a campaign to send 4,500 more. This is one of the projects for which money is needed.

In the 10-day period ending Oct. 26 the national Bundles for Britain organization sent 30,000 knitted garments to England.

In addition to the Bundles for Britain work, the Infant Welfare circle also is doing a great deal of Red Cross work and is continuing its local charitable work, the providing of milk to needy families. To fund the efforts of its Appleton milk fund, it will sponsor its annual charity ball Dec. 21 at North Shore Golf club.

Auxiliary to Form New Study Group

A Pan-American study group will be formed by the Appleton unit of American Legion auxiliary, it was announced at the meeting of the unit last night at the Legion building. The countries to be studied are Panama and Brazil, and any member of the auxiliary may sign up for the group by notifying Mrs. Lloyd Root, chairman. The study group will take the place of Fide work, since the European War has disrupted that work.

Donations were voted to the local Red Cross chapter and the Christmas cheer fund, donations to the latter being solicited from every Legion post and auxiliary unit throughout the state and used to buy gifts and treats for every hospitalized veteran at Wood, Mendota and Wisconsin Veterans Home. Mrs. Emmery Greunke, community service chairman, asked for used books and magazines for CCC camps, to be brought to the clubhouse.

During the social hour Mrs. Stanley Staidl and Miss Helen Hauert won prizes at cards. The next meeting will be Dec. 16 when a Christmas party will be held. The Legion members will be guests and the party will be preceded by a pot-luck supper.

Miss Elsie Kopplin was hostess to Phi Mu alumnae Monday night at her home on E. Pacific street, eight members being present. The next regular meeting is scheduled for Dec. 2 at the home of Mrs. Eugene Pierce, S. Fairview street, and a Christmas party, for Dec. 17 at Mrs. H. J. Weller's home, 905 N. Rankin street. Mrs. Myra Hagen will be assistant hostess at the Christmas party.

T. Ben Wadsworth of the Wisconsin Telephone company will speak on "The Magic of Communication" at the luncheon meeting of the Appleton Lions club auxiliary at 7 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at the Conway hotel. There also will be a business meeting.

The Wednesday Musicals club has canceled its meeting for tomorrow because of the proximity to the Thanksgiving day holiday. The next meeting will take place Dec. 4 at Mrs. Carl Waterman's home, 223 N. Union street.

The meeting of the Reading club, scheduled for tomorrow, has been postponed to Dec. 4, at which time Mrs. E. A. Dettman will be hostess and Mrs. George Peckenboom will give the program.

Mrs. E. F. McGrath will review the book, "Sanctuary" by S. W. Paisley at the meeting of General Review club tonight at the home of Mrs. S. F. Darling, 704 N. Lemmings street.

Miss Carie Morgan gave a program of personal recollections at the meeting of the Clio club Monday evening at Mrs. Werner's home, 837 E. South street. Mrs. A. E. Rector will be hostess to the club next Monday night, at which time Mrs. W. H. Killen will review Margaret Armstrong's new biography, "Tre-lawney."

Programs on South America Given at 2 Club Meetings

South American programs were given at two of the women's study club meetings Monday afternoon. Meeting at Mrs. Frank Young's home, E. Kimball street, the Tourists heard Mrs. Clyde Chapelle give a paper on "Down the Amazon." Mrs. Chapelle will be hostess to the club Dec. 2, at which time Mrs. Young will discuss "History and People of Brazil."

"Argentina, a Land of Vast Possibilities" was the subject of the program presented by Mrs. W. R. Challoner at the meeting of the Monday club yesterday afternoon at Mrs. H. J. Behnke's home, 915 E. Eldorado street. The next meeting is scheduled for Dec. 2 at Mrs. Olin Mead's home.

Town and Gown club will meet Wednesday afternoon at Mrs. Olin Mead's home, 424 E. Pacific street. Mrs. William McConaha will give the program, reviewing "The Thibaults" by Roger Martin du Gard.

Mrs. W. E. Schubert will be hostess at the regular meeting of the Fortnightly club Wednesday afternoon at her home on W. Prospect avenue. For the program Mrs. E. L. Bolton has prepared a review of "Winston Churchill," by Rene Kraus.

Tuesday Study club has postponed its meeting, originally scheduled for tomorrow, to the following Wednesday, Nov. 27. Mrs. C. L. Kolb, 523 S. Mueller street, will be hostess.

Jean Pierre Heads Job's Daughters

Jean Pierre was elected honored queen of Job's Daughters at a meeting last night at the Masonic temple. Betty Hanson was chosen senior princess; Beverly Olson, Junior princess; Virginia Nabbedfeld, guide; and Shirley Fox, marshal. The girls will be installed Dec. 14, and a formal installation dance for the honored queen will follow.

Tellers for the election were Shirley Fox, Rosemary Schilz, Ethel Kuehl and Jean Pierre. Installation will be held Dec. 2. Next Monday evening the council will meet at the home of Mrs. A. A. Krabbe, 1030 W. Packard street.

William F. Speel chapter, Disabled American Veterans of the World War, will meet at 8 o'clock tonight at the court house. Plans will be discussed for attending the third district conference at Oshkosh Saturday.

Forty persons attended the family dinner of Pythian Sisters last night at Castle hall. Initiation took place during the meeting which followed. Hostesses were Mrs. Gilbert Trentlake, Mrs. Margaret Shimek, Mrs. William Arnold and Mrs. Barrett Gochnauer.

Initiation will take place at the meeting of Deborah Rebekah lodge Wednesday night at Odd Fellows hall. The Menasha degree staff will conduct the initiation, which will be followed by a social hour.

What's New at the Library

The war in Europe continues to hold the spotlight in new books. "The War, First Year" by Edgar McInnis coordinates the bewildering amount of material on the war from the prolog in June, 1939, to the battle of London. In an introduction by Raymond Gram Swing he states that distrust for propaganda kept the people of the United States detached from the conflict until the fall of France and the peril of England. The author is professor of history at Toronto university. "I Saw It Happen in Norway" by Carl J. Hambro, president of the Norwegian parliament and president of the assembly of the League of Nations, is an eyewitness story of the invasion of Norway by the Germans. Hambro was with King Haakon during the hurried retreats of the government before the advancing Germans; was in Stockholm trying to rally the scattered Norwegian forces; and then came to the United States to carry on the fight for Norwegian independence.

"Trail of an Artist Naturalist" by Ernest Thompson Seton is the autobiography of a man whose fame as a writer, artist, lecturer and authority on the wild life of North America is world wide. From a backwoods farm in Canada he went to Toronto to school, and then proceeded to New York, later to London and the continent. His book deals mostly with the wild lands of Canada and the western United States which he loved and drew upon for his stories and where he lives today.

Three books on sports are among the new volumes at the library. They are "Six-Man Football" by Ray O. Duncan, "Bowling" by Falcaro and Goodman, and "Basketball for Girls" by Meissner and Meyers.

The author of "The Robber Barons," Mathew Josephson, has written a new book, "The President Makers, 1896 to 1919," in which is presented the entire political roster of this age of unrest. Theodore Roosevelt, Lodge, Taft, LaFollette, Bryan, Colonel Harvey, Edward

Couple Observes 5th Anniversary

Leeman—Friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Carpenter met at their home Friday evening in honor of their fifth wedding anniversary. Cards and buncos were played. Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Taubel and daughter Viola Mae and sons Ronald and Raymond, New London; Mrs. Alma Carpenter and daughter Pauline, Nichols; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Winterfeldt and daughter Roberta, Embarras; Miss Elsie Svetnicka and Ward Brugger, Navarino.

A daughter was born Saturday to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Tackman, Jr. Mrs. Edward Strong spent a few days at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lowell Colson in Shiocton, after returning from the Community hospital in New London where she submitted to a throat operation the early part of the week.

'Blow for a Landing' Masterful Account of Mississippi River

By Jean Wiley Thickens

"BLOW FOR A LANDING" By Ben Lucian Burman. Ben Lucian Burman's third volume of his Mississippi trilogy, has recently come off the press, the two earlier volumes being "Blow for a Landing" and "Steamboat Round the Bend." Not since Mark Twain's immortal "Life on the Mississippi" has anyone written such a charming and comprehensive saga of the "Father of Waters." The author was born in Kentucky and has spent a large share of his adult life steamboating on one or another of the vast rivers which lace the continent. The Mississippi river is practically a religion with Mr. Burman and this attitude reflects the feeling of most of the pilots, captains, roustabouts, bargemen, river engineers and light-house keepers along its ever changing and perilous shores.

When "Blow for a Landing" appeared in 1938 there had been a veritable epidemic of fine southern novels; in spite of this fact "Blow for a Landing" won the Southern Authors award as the most distinguished southern book for that year.

All of Mr. Burman's books have a nostalgic, nineteenth century flavor which is wistful and endearing. His accounts of lazy days and starry nights on the deck of some old stern-wheeler, or a flatboat loaded with cotton bales, make the reader yearn to drop all responsibilities and seek peace, rest and a constantly changing vista, drifting on the swirling surface of the mighty river.

There are separate chapters on the Negro roustabout—which makes him seem a very fine fellow—another chapter on the river engineers whose task it is to preserve life which is constantly being threatened by caving banks, shifting sandbars, tropical hurricanes and sunken wrecks. The chapter on the happy-go-lucky but pathetic shantypoat men—who are America's oldest and closest approach to a gypsy—is probably the most picturesque of them all.

Poverty poor—their total annual income often falling below 8 dollars—they yet revel in being their own masters, their chief troubles the river steamers which when passing flood their cabins, often inundating them completely and leaving their occupants homeless until friendly shantypoat neighbors club together to build them another.

The historic voyage of the "Tennessee Belle," whose captain was attempting to make the first trip between New Orleans and St. Paul in over a quarter of a century, was a thrilling and perilous journey menaced by storms, engine breakdowns, shifting sandbars and caving banks. When after many weary days the journey was finally completed with only minor mishaps, the revival of steamboating on the Mississippi river was assured. Today a greater volume of commerce passes annually on the river between the steel mills of Pittsburgh and the city of New Orleans, than passes thru the Panama Canal.

For half a century steamboating on the Mississippi river decreased alarmingly, to the utter dismay and disgust of the dwellers in the hundreds of river towns along its course; today that steamboat commerce is greater than ever in its history. A journey from New Orleans to Lake Pepin in the upper reaches of the river near its source would be an ideal vacation trip for some future summer, and should make any American proud of his heritage of beauty, freedom, courage, and native resourcefulness.

23 Tables in Play At Brillion Party

Brillion—Twenty-three tables were in play at the public card party sponsored by St. Mary's congregation at the school hall in Brillion Sunday evening. Bridge, skat, five hundred and schafkopf were played. At bridge, Miss Anna Barnard and Mrs. Louis Mumm received prizes; at five hundred, Mrs. Kosmos Miller and Mrs. Edward Keller; at schafkopf, Mrs. William Steinfest and Joseph Bursack; and at skat, Francis Miller and Edward Keller. Mrs. John Sheehy and Mrs. Henry Thissen were co-chairmen of the committee in charge of the arrangements.

Friends and relatives gave a surprise farewell party in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Boettcher at their home on Friday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Boettcher and family left Saturday to make their home in Sheboygan. The evening was spent in playing cards after which a lunch was served to the Messrs. and Mesdames Lester Krueger, George Kanter, Clarence Boettcher, Ralph Hopp, John Schneider, Norbert Berg, W. P. Endries and Mrs. Caroline Krizenzky.

Rudolph Kruschinske is a patient at the St. Mary's hospital at Wausau where he is receiving treatment. Miss Anna Barnard was hostess to the members of the Nickelodeons at her home Saturday evening.

Miss Emma Horn entertained the members of her birthday club at her home Friday evening. High honors at bridge were received by Mrs. August Schneider and Mrs. Karl Barnard and Mrs. A. F. Paustian received the floater.

Mrs. Eugene Cafilisch was hostess to the members of her buncos club at her home Thursday evening. The awards were received by Mrs. John Jooss and Mrs. Melvin Behnke. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. # Students to Go On Hayride Party

An old-fashioned hayride party is the next social event on the calendar of the German club of Appleton High school. The group will meet at 7 o'clock Monday evening, Nov. 25, at the home of Mary Bob Knapp, 210 N. Park avenue and will return to the Knapp residence after the ride for refreshments.

Joyce Coley is general chairman for the party. Refreshments will be served by Miss Knapp, chairman, Janet Jones, Barbara Jane Rosebush and Sally Gorrow. On the clean-up corps are Grace Slattery and Maree Sylvester.

In the event that weather makes the hayride an impossibility, entertainment will be furnished by Constance Garvey, chairman, Betty Greb and Elizabeth Haug. Norval Henn, German instructor, is sponsoring this meeting of the club. Miss Sophia Haase, head of the department, will assist as chaperon.

Judge Slashes Red Tape to Speed Action on Court Cases

The saying that "the wheels of justice grind slowly" no longer is true in the tenth circuit of Judge Joseph R. McCarthy which includes Outagamie, Shawano and Langlade counties.

The young judge, who took office last January has streamlined the procedure of bringing cases to trial, and the method has been given the wholehearted approval of lawyers. The plan is designed to eliminate unnecessary delays and to provide definite dates for cases so that arrangements need not be made on a tentative basis.

The state law since about 1848, when the state was admitted to the union, has provided for the terms of court in the various counties. For example, Outagamie county has a spring term in March and a fall term in September; Shawano county has its terms in May and December; and Langlade county, in April and October.

In the original setting up of this statute, which Judge McCarthy says was an intelligent setup at the time, the idea was that the court would travel from one county to the other; have a jury called in at the regular term; dispose of all the cases; dismiss the jury until the following term six months later; and proceed on to the next county.

Travel Was Slow

"It can be easily seen," Judge McCarthy stated in commenting on the procedure, "it was perhaps the only method that could be followed in those days when the judges, the lawyers and the jurors had to travel by horse and buggy."

"A judge could not be expected to drive 100 miles and try a case in Antigo, for example, today and be back in Appleton for a case tomorrow. Neither could it be expected that jurors could be brought in from all over the county, some of them traveling 25 or 30 miles by horse and buggy, and have them come in for the trial of merely one case."

He contrasted the conditions then and now when court can get from one county to the other in from one to two hours' time, and pointed out that there seemed to be no occasion for following a system set up under entirely different conditions. Under the old system, a litigant could not bring his case on for trial until the term following the filing of the papers. Then if the attorneys could show reasonable grounds, the court would set the case over for

Britain Cooperates With U. S. on Exports

London—(AP)—Britain is cooperating with the United States in banning exports of aviation gasoline and scrap iron to Japan. Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs R. A. Butler told the house of commons today.

"We ourselves are not exporting any of these commodities," Butler said.

He reiterated that Britain and the United States are in close consultation on "all matters affecting supplies . . . to ensure the greatest practicable uniformity of action."

Budget of Shawano County Decreased

Shawano—(AP)—The Shawano county board yesterday voted a 1941 budget of $366,000, a reduction of $74,000 from that of 1940.

The board petitioned the legislature to change the law to permit election of county officers on a non-partisan basis.

Freedom. The afternoon was spent in playing cards. Those winning the prizes were Mrs. William Appleton, Kaukauna, Mrs. Basil Milheiser, Green Bay, and Mrs. Tony Van Boxel, Oneida. ## County Orders Investigation Of Park Setup

Committee's Report Will be Heard at Session in February

The county board this morning authorized appointment of a 5-man committee to investigate the county park commission setup after laying on the table a resolution of Supervisor Louis Bonini, Appleton, proposing that the board be abolished. The investigating committee will report at the February session of the board.

Operation of the county detention camp, which is under supervision of the park commission, was aired as the board spent the entire morning session hearing old charges and counter-charges.

Clyde Burdick, Black Creek, president of the board, and George Hannan, secretary, defended actions of the board and warned against putting the detention camp into the hands of a committee composed of supervisors because it would become a political setup. They said charges against camp management had been given the fullest investigation and that they were groundless.

R. J. Meyer, also a member of the park board, spoke of differences he had with other members of the board.

Opposes Change

Burdick said that to place the camp management in the hands of a county board committee "would kill everything accomplished by the park board in the last eight years." Supervisor Bonini felt, however, that a county board committee could manage the camp adequately and at much less cost than the park commission.

A proposal of Supervisor Curt Rogers, town of Liberty, that a 5-man committee of supervisors be given control of the camp for a year was defeated.

Bonini's resolution also proposed abolition of the detention camp zoo, but its retention was urged by Hannan who said that it was being maintained at little expense and that last year about 10,000 visitors saw it. Bonini claimed a zoo had no place in a prison camp.

Supervisor Floyd Acheson, Appleton, proposed that the camp superintendent be released and that the work of collecting tax deeds, now done by the park commission, be turned over to the executive committee but his motion failed to receive a second.

The board, before recessing until this afternoon, voted an appropriation of $4,465 for the park commission budget next year. The sum is $450 less than the amount asked by the commission.

Thelen Talks

A. J. Thelen, secretary of the Wisconsin County Boards association, yesterday afternoon told the county board of the fight being made in Wisconsin against the attempt of "persons in the federal bureau" trying to get control over setting of salaries, vacations, sick leaves and mileage allowance for employees in pension departments through "back" phrases they want written into the Wisconsin plan for administering the extension of civil service laws into county courthouses.

The state is agreeable to the program, Thelen said, as long as control is kept at home. The federal security board has not yet approved the state's civil service program although the state bureau of personnel has completed the grading of examination papers of thousands of applicants for civil service jobs in county pension departments.

Thelen also discussed the status of the program to prevent the diversion of highway money. He said the practice of diversion has become a "racket" whereby the state grabs money from the highway fund to increase aids and then forces counties to match it with county levies in order to get what the state calls its share.

The board voted a 5-cent bounty on gophers, crows, Cooper's or sharp-shinned hawks, black, brown and grey or Norway rats and starlings. The bounty on starlings will be paid only during January, February and March. The bounties will be paid by the town, city and village clerks.

Members of the county highway committee were authorized to attend the annual state road school.

Move to Clintonville

Freemont—Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Radtke and family moved their household goods to Clintonville Sunday.

Mrs. N. Johnson has closed her home for the winter. She will spend some time at the home of her son at Larson.

The men of the Wolf River Reformed church, planned, cooked and served a 3 course baked ham dinner on Friday evening. About 400 persons attended.

On Thanksgiving day the following services will be conducted at St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church: German at 9:30 in the morning, and English at 7:30 in the evening.

Lyceum Program

"Modern Daughters," a comedy of youth, will be presented for the lyceum audience of Appleton High school Wednesday by the Salisbury Players. Mrs. Ethel Hanley will take the leading role.

Schedule Meeting

The fire and police committee of the city council will meet this afternoon in city hall to frame a report for Wednesday night's council meeting.

Rain or Snow For Thursday

Thanksgiving to Bring Unpleasant Weather in Midwest; 47 in City

The weatherman took a long-range look at weather charts today and predicted that rain or snow probably will be falling while midwesterners eat Thanksgiving turkey Thursday.

Rain or snow is expected in Wisconsin Thursday the Milwaukee bureau reported today. As for tonight, it will be cooler and cloudy. As for tomorrow, it will be cloudy, too.

Skies were gloomy over Appleton and vicinity today, but temperatures were still mild. The thermometer at the Post-Crescent building stood at 47 degrees at 12:30 this afternoon, compared with yesterday's high of 46 at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The 24-hour low was 34 at 10 o'clock last night, the Wisconsin Michigan Power company reported. The extended weather forecast for the period from today until Saturday evening follows:

Great Lakes: Temperature will average about normal for the period, falling trend Wednesday and Thursday and again Lake Superior region and upper Michigan by Saturday. Precipitation above average with showers Michigan Wednesday and lower lakes Wednesday and Thursday. Another period of rain or snow by Thursday or Friday Superior and Michigan areas and Saturday lower lakes.

Upper Mississippi valley: Temperature above normal for the period as a whole. However, slightly below normal with falling trend Wednesday returning to above normal Thursday night and Friday; colder Minnesota and Wisconsin by Saturday. Precipitation above average, showers Illinois Wednesday, moderate rain or snow Thursday entire region and light rain or snow Minnesota and Wisconsin Saturday.

Emmons Family Now In New Residence

Dale—Orville Emmons and family have moved into their new home on E. Main street. Mrs. John Grootemate and her granddaughter, Lorna Jean Breyer, have moved here from Milwaukee to the house vacated by the Emmons.

Len Dorschner and son Hubert drove to Delevan Sunday to bring Mrs. Dorschner home.

Alvin Danner of Coloma has been acting as relief foreman on the Soo line the last week.

There will be Thanksgiving services at St. Paul's Lutheran church at 7:30 Thursday evening, and at the Reformed church at 9:30 Thursday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bohren of Watertown and Effie and Ruth Bohren of Milwaukee were weekend guests at the Robert Bohren home.

Indiana Residents Visit at Bear Creek

Bear Creek — Judge Joseph T. Sullivan of Crown Point, Ind., Mrs. Molly Klein of Whiting, Ind., and Roger Lyons of Appleton were visitors Thursday at the Murphy home.

Banns of marriage were announced by the Rev. J. G. De Vries Sunday at St. Mary's church for Miss Kathryn Lucia, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lucia of this village, and Leonard Hoffman son of Mrs. Charles Hoffman of Clintonville.

Francis Prunty a former resident of the town of Bear Creek has purchased the Nordor residence which was recently vacated by the Mrs. Emma Homrig family. The Prunty family will move to its new home in the near future. The Homrig family is residing at Appleton.

Go to New London

Bear Creek — Members of the Woman's society of Christian Service were at New London Thursday where they attended a meeting at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. R. R. Holliday.

'Talk America Up,' Senator Tells College

Wiley Honored With Membership in Mace, Sigma Phi Epsilon

Americans must believe in their country's greatness, and work to make it greater if it is to withstand the shocks and uncertainties of the present European war, Senator Alexander Wiley of Chippewa Falls said in a speech before Lawrence college students yesterday morning in Memorial chapel.

"Don't talk America down, talk her up," the senator said. "If this war will awaken America from her lethargy, it will prevent her from becoming another France."

College is not meant to make life easy, the senator told the students, but to make it richer. "There are not easy times ahead, but there are great times in the offing," the speaker said. "You will all have the privilege of handing down a certificate of citizenship to the next generation; that is, if we accept the challenge and guarantee that citizenship."

Most Americans don't appreciate the privileges they enjoy, privileges that are given only to them of all the peoples in the world, Senator Wiley said. He described his experiences in the fall of 1939 when he was a delegate to an international conference in Sweden. He and his family were ready to leave for Germany from Sweden when war broke out. They took a boat, "filled with a mixture of millionaires and poor refugees," from Sweden to America.

At the conclusion of his talk, Senator Wiley was made an honorary member of Mace, Lawrence college's chapter of Sigma Phi Epsilon. Melvin Heinke, student from Wausau, conferred the honorary Mace membership.

Wiley's wife, four children, and brother, Robert, attended Lawrence. The senator's citation for membership into Mace read thusly: "In recognition of your work for your state and country and your long interest in Lawrence college, you have been elected to Mace, the honorary organization for men on our campus."

Students Discuss Problems In Producing School Annual

Reports on the annual conference of Wisconsin High School Editors were presented at the regular meeting of the Quill and Scroll society of Appleton High school Monday afternoon. Delegates from the staffs of the weekly newspaper and the yearbook summarized the highlights of the lectures and round-tables which they attended in Madison at the October conference.

Fred Heinritz, speaking for the business staff of the Clarion, stressed the importance of simplicity in advertising. "Ideas for yearbooks get scrawled and scrawled," declared Mary Fiedler, "but we are fortunate that we are attending a school in which we are relatively free to express those ideas."

Edward Reuter told how printing costs could be reduced and Janet Bixby spoke on the place of the gossip column in a high school paper. Headline writing and the typography of the sports page were discussed by Elliott Jacobson. The first step in building a yearbook, Margaret Lally stated, was gaining and forming original ideas of production.

Carl Goldbeck outlined the problems confronting a business manager when he opens an advertising campaign while June Weisgerber offered suggestions for better advertising copy. William Koerner stressed the importance of keeping accurate records. New phases in typography were described by Thomas Letter and Stanley Williams presented the problems of the high school photographer.

Society to Sponsor Clothing Drive and Goodfellowship Fund

The Appleton Relief and Welfare society yesterday voted again to hold its annual clothing drive for the needy and to sponsor a good-fellowship campaign for Christmas.

Charles Huesemann, Sr., and George F. Werner were appointed to contact C. H. Engberg, valley scout executive, to have boy scouts pick up clothing Dec. 7, the day set for the drive.

Judge Fred V. Heinemann and Gustave Keller will head the committee for the goodfellowship fund this year.

The society's Christmas baskets again will be cleared through the Appleton relief department to avoid duplication, it was decided.

Olson, Pedersen Win In Handball Match

The Vipers won their second match in the Appleton Y. M. C. A. turkey handball tournament yesterday against the Jeeps.

Leslie Olson and H. W. Pedersen of the Vipers took a 2-1 decision over Arno Seifert and Harold Gramse of the Jeeps.

Committee Votes to Install Street Light

Strikers Ask For Election

Would Determine Bargaining Agent At Chair Company

Striking employees of the Appleton Chair company, through the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America, local 1743, have petitioned the Wisconsin State Labor board for an election to determine the bargaining agent in the plant, according to Carl Behnke, recording secretary of the union.

The petition was filed Saturday and was signed by Orville Muenster, president of the union.

About half of the 90 employees of the company walked out Nov. 6 after the management refused their demand for wage increases. Workers still are picketing the plant, which is still operating.

War Expenditures in Decline in Britain

London—(P)—Britain's war expenditures dropped to a daily average of $38,000,000 last week, against an average of $48,000,000 the previous two weeks, exchequer figures disclosed today.

The report showed a deficit of $191,100,296 for the week for all government expenses with revenue of only $79,378,192 against expenditures of $270,476,488.

Pleads Guilty

Marinus Smith, 22, Oneida, pleaded guilty of disorderly conduct when he was arraigned before Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court yesterday and was fined $10 and costs with an alternative of 20 days in the county detention camp.

Gets 20 Days

Leonard Lueck, a transient, pleaded guilty of vagrancy when he appeared before Judge Thomas H. Ryan in municipal court yesterday and was sentenced to 20 days in the county detention camp. City police made the arrest.

Roll Call Nets $2,040 at First Report Meeting

Next Session Will Be Monday Evening; Campaign Goal $5,000

Proceeds of the roll call of the Outagamie county chapter of the American Red Cross today totaled $2,040 after the first report meeting held last night at the Appleton Y. M. C. A.

Mrs. Mabel O. Shan non, executive secretary, said the report included only the Appleton area, mostly from the advanced gifts committee and residential workers.

The chapter is seeking 3,500 new members and a $5,000 fund to continue Red Cross mercy work in the county and the nation.

None of the rural areas or the branch chapters have reported the results of the first week of the campaign, Mrs. Shannon said.

The next report meeting, at which officials expect most of the drive money will be reported, will be at 6:30 Monday night at the Y. M. C. A.

Letters will be sent to branch chapters to notify them of the meeting and all workers in the Appleton area will be requested to report their collections then.

Rites Friday At Racine for Col. Rickeman

Colonel Rickeman, who formerly was postmaster at Racine, had served in the United States army in the Spanish-American and World wars, and had been sergeant-at-arms of the state senate in 1929, retired to his office shortly after 3 p. m. yesterday, telling employees he did not want to be disturbed.

When he failed to emerge from the office at closing time, Homer Bell, head of the department's inspection and enforcement division, and Theodore Larson, manager of the Milwaukee branch, attempted to enter. They found the door locked from the inside and called a janitor.

The janitor could not open the door and the trio went outside and looked through a window. Seeing a body on the floor, Bell notified the janitor through a window.

Dr. Guilford said Colonel Rickeman had been dead at least an hour.

Served in Philippines
Born at Racine in 1873, Colonel Rickeman attended public schools there and had matriculated at the University of Wisconsin when Governor James O. Davidson persuaded him to accept appointment as a state conservation warden.

Having taken military training at the university, Colonel Rickeman joined the national guard at Racine and served in the Spanish-American war. He was commissioned a captain of infantry and stationed in the Philippines.

After the war he served as captain of an artillery battery in the national guard. He was promoted to major and went to France with the 32nd division. Upon his return he was appointed a lieutenant colonel in the guard and later was promoted to colonel.

President Hoover appointed him postmaster at Racine in 1931 and he held that post until November, 1936. For 25 years he acted as special agent for a group of bankers.

In connection with his appointment as motor vehicle commissioner it was recalled that Colonel Rickeman never had operated an automobile himself.

Colonel Rickeman was a bachelor. He is survived by a brother, Hugo, and a sister, Mrs. E. R. Burgess. Richard G. Harvey, Jr., district attorney of Racine county, is his nephew.

ed. He told the convention yesterday he would carry out this promise.

The CIO convention was called on to approve Lewis' program for labor peace, long regarded by the American Federation of Labor as an impossible basis for settlement of their differences.

The committee on officers' reports reiterated the CIO president's declaration that CIO industrial unionism must be preserved intact, and that any labor unity should be built on the combined forces of the CIO, A. F. of L. and the railroad brotherhoods.

A labor advisory committee of 16 representatives from the three groups formed by Sidney Hillman, CIO vice president, in his capacity as labor member of the national defense commission, holds no "practical hope or approach" to labor unity, the reporting committee said.

Deny A. F. of L. Charges
The committee also asked endorsement of Lewis' stand against the award of re-armament contracts to firms involved in labor board cases.

The committee branded as "utter falsehoods" charges from A. F. of L. sources that Lewis was responsible for the failure of past efforts to settle the A. F. of L.-CIO war, which began here five years ago.

With some groups in the convention urging new conferences to find a formula for labor unity, the committee recommended that CIO's three-man peace committee be continued with authority "to participate in any future negotiations looking forward to real labor unity."

Lewis and two of CIO's top vice presidents, Philip Murray and Hillman, compose the peace committee.

Urge Joint Meeting
"Any program for unity," the report stated, "should involve a joint convention of all labor organizations, including those of the A. F. of L., the railroad brotherhoods and the CIO, with existing jurisdictional differences to be adjusted in such a convention."

The Lewis policy on national defense contracts, put before the convention for approval, stems from his demand that an executive order should be issued by President Roosevelt requiring all manufacturers under the program to comply with the Wagner act and other labor statutes.

Urging greater labor representation in the setup, Lewis in his own report charged that the defense press hinting at "a final reorganization of all southeast Europe" and "a great military offensive against Greece, Egypt and Africa by Germany and Italy.")

"Squeeze" Expected
European observers, even before announcement of the Boris-Hitler conference, added up the clues of the newest line of axis diplomacy to mean an impending "squeeze" on Britain through Greece and Gibraltar, the one possibility through Bulgaria and the other through Spain.

A meeting between Hitler and King Boris just ahead of the fuhrer's conference yesterday with the Italian and Spanish foreign ministers, Count Galeazzo Ciano and Ramon Serrano Suner, was seen as fitting into such a picture.

Almost as soon as Bulgaria recovered southern Dobruja from Rumania with axis support last fall, she voiced her hopes for a corridor to the Aegean at the expense of Greece.

Now, with Italy's armies suffering reverses in the Greek campaign, a corridor to the Aegean might be the inducement for Bulgaria to help or, at least, let German troops through to the aid of their allies.

Hungary Next

Berlin—(4)—Hungary is next on the list for axis discussions, D. N. B. (official German news agency) disclosed today, following Adolf Hitler's series of conferences this week with Italian, Spanish and Bulgarian leaders.

The German and Italian foreign ministers, Joachim von Ribbentrop and Count Galeazzo Ciano, the agency announced, left Berchtesgaden today for Vienna, to which Germany has invited Hungarian Premier Count Pal Teleky and Foreign Minister Count Istvan Csaky. The Hungarians are due there tomorrow.

Yesterday Von Ribbentrop and Ciano joined Hitler in a meeting with Ramon Serrano Suner, Spanish foreign minister who, D. N. B. reported, left Salzburg this morning on his way back to Spain.

First of the fuhrer's callers, it was disclosed meanwhile, was King Boris of Bulgaria. As with yesterday's talks at the fuhrer's Berchtesgaden retreat, there was no inkling of what was discussed.

Authorized sources said merely that Boris visited Hitler to "discuss" the commission's "vacillations" on labor policy served to "promote further violations of the law and threatens to break down labor's hard-won gains."

$950,000 Asked for Vets' Home Projects

Waupaca — Asking for an appropriation of $950,000 for a five-year building program for the Wisconsin Veterans Home, nearly one hundred service officers from all parts of the state, met Sunday at the Home to formulate a resolution to be presented before the next session of the legislature. The resolution first will be presented to the county boards of the state which are in session this week.

The program calls for immediate action on a new heating plant at an approximate cost of $150,000. The present plant which is in need of much repair, has been in use for the last 24 years. Two wings are needed for the present hospital which has long been inadequate to supply the waiting list. These would cost $300,000. Two new dormitories would be built for an approximate cost of $250,000 each.

Colored movies taken by Arlie Pitt, Fremont, eighth district commander, were shown to cover more completely the buildings in need of paint, repairs, entire reconstruction and fireproofing. In the event a fire should break out in the annex to the hospital, it was asserted, it would not be possible to save more than 50 per cent of the disabled in the building which houses the wives, widows and mothers of veterans. The heating plant is obsolete and it is becoming increasingly difficult to adjust defects that are appearing it was said. Before the annex, which has long been considered a fire-trap, could be remodeled, it would be necessary to build the wings to the hospital.

The meeting which opened at 10 o'clock Sunday morning in the Amusement hall was in charge of E. J. Bernages, service officer of Dodge county, who is president of the association. A dinner was served at noon to visiting service officers and county board chairmen and the meeting reconvened at 1:30.

Colonel C. L. Brosius, commandant of the Home, extended an invitation to the group to meet annually at the Home. The invitation was accepted.

Among those present were A. R. Freeman, Milwaukee, from the office of Adjutant General Ralph Immel; Les Meyers, Green Bay, national legislative officer for Veterans of Foreign Wars who urged a better understanding of the social security act; State Senator F. R. Fisher, Waupaca; and representatives from Ashland, Brown, Calumet, Columbia, Dodge, Forest, Jefferson, Lafayette, Manitowish, Oconto, Oneida, Outagamie, Portage, Rock, Sauk, Shawano, Waupaca, Waushara, Winnebago, Wood and Langlade counties. With them were many county board chairmen.

Revision of National Farm Loan Act Sought
Wisconsin Rapids — (4)—Revision of the national farm loan act was asked yesterday by the Wisconsin Federation of National Farm Loan associations.

The federation approved a resolution urging a conference of farm credit administration officials, federal land bank presidents, and directors of state farm loan associations "to compromise until they can jointly recommend a revised farm loan act" to congress.

Max Leopold, of Arpin, was elected president of the state body; C. H. Hackett, of Baraboo, vice president; and Chris Slotton, of Wittenberg, secretary-treasurer.

Nazi Secret Police Agent Under Arrest

Dies Calls Added Witnesses Before Congress Group

Chicago—(4)—Chairman Martin Dies summoned additional witnesses before the congressional committee on un-American activities today after disclosing the arrest of a man he identified as a Nazi secret police agent.

He said he planned to question four persons in a continuation of the committee's investigation of evidence unearthed by committee agents here.

The congressman identified one of yesterday's witnesses as Heinrich Peter Fassbender, alias Harry Smith, an agent of the Gestapo.

Fassbender, who is 23, was seized on the west coast, taken to Washington and then brought here for questioning by the committee. Dies said the agent carried authentic credentials and checks from the German government when seized.

"What he told us links certain representatives of certain governments with his activities," Dies said. "He has been working in the United States for more than a year. The witness told newsmen that he had been a Gestapo agent since 1935, working in Spain and Belgium before coming to this country."

Agents Make Raids
Dies reported that committee agents had raided the quarters of "Italian and German organizations" in New York, Chicago and other cities, seizing letters, card files, pamphlets, ledgers and other documents which were turned over to translators.

Dies said that after questioning witnesses this afternoon, he would leave Chicago temporarily for an undisclosed visit elsewhere.

"We are very much interested in Detroit, Mich., and Milwaukee, Wis.," he said. "There is a good deal of work to be done there in the very near future; there's a good deal of subversive activities there."

He said he expected to go to Detroit "soon."

"Very important records" were seized in Chicago, he said, which "gives us a very good picture of the situation in the United States." He added he believed "successful indictments and convictions" could result from evidence gathered in Chicago.

Subpenas were issued, he said, for officers and records of a peace mobilization organization in Chicago and of the German-American bund here.

Move Kindergarten Equipment, Furniture Into New Structure

Today is moving day at the Franklin school kindergarten.

Kindergarten equipment and furniture is being moved from the temporary quarters in the Franklin school to the new 2-room annex which was completed this week.

Ben J. Rohan, superintendent of schools, said that classes will be held in the annex as soon as everything is moved into the building.

The board of education yesterday inspected the building and accepted the work, Rohan said. The

Officials to State Capital on Business

Mayor John Goodman, Jr., Joseph A. Kox, city treasurer, and J. A. Hammond, relief director, were in Madison today on city business. The mayor was to attend an executive committee meeting of the League of Wisconsin Municipalities. Kox and Hammond were checking on a supreme court decision concerning the payment of school tuition for relief clients.

school rooms were built by Gmeiner and Gearson at a cost of about $8,000 to relieve congestion in Franklin school.

Trucker Highs at Seymour Tonight

Meet in First Game Of Home and Home Basketball Series

Clintonville — Clintonville High School basketball quintet will have its second taste of non-conference competition tonight when it travels to Seymour. Last Friday night the Clints, with only three nights of practice, took things easy handing Shiocton a 30 to 16 mauling. Seymour also hung up a win Friday night defeating Coleman 34 to 26.

The two teams last season played two games and in both instances Seymour knocked off the Clints. A return engagement this year will be played at Clintonville on Friday night, Nov. 29. The two cities have established quite a reputation on the baseball diamond and it looks as though it will hold over during basketball. A large crowd of Clintonville fans is planning on accompanying the squad.

The Seymours are led by three returning regulars, Adamski, Gavronski and Kunstman. Against this group Coach Swede Johnson will send a well-balanced Clint lineup which will see Willie Sasse and Cal Haase at forwards, Fredrick Klitz and Jim Breed at the guards, and Lyle Roloff or Lawrence Kruse at center. Roloff and Kruse alternate at center and both are over six feet tall as is Jim Breed. Other boys who are slated to see plenty of action Tuesday night are Ray Mech, Reinhold Kiel, Hunk Bodah, Roy Fillnow and "Barge" Cronce.

A preliminary between the two second squads will precede the main attraction which is scheduled for 8 o'clock.

G. Walton, N. Willis Ties in Women's Loop

KIMBERLY WOMEN'S LEAGUE

Kimberly—Gen Walton and N. Willis went into a 489 tie for high series in the Women's League last week. Jen Behling got a 206 game for high game count.

Wrinkles copped three from Adler Brau as G. Walton dumped the works for a 489 series and 184 game while G. Behling had a 464 series and 206 game. For the losers, E. Lemmers got a 452 series and 170 game and H. Vander Velden a 429 series and 152 game.

The Bottles took two from the Mellow Brews as N. Willis rolled a 489 series and 172 game. J. Cavil had a 482 series and 181 game. For the losers, A. Weyenberg had a 466 series and 185 game. M. Courchane got a 472 series and B. Hertzfeldt a 452 game.

Globe Trotters Next for Stars

Oshkosh Team Will Meet Negro Quintet Saturday Evening

Oshkosh — Next home opponent for the Oshkosh All Stars, who have won their three games to the South Park school court here this season, will be the Harlem Globe Trotters, champions last spring of the world's professional cage tournament at Chicago. The teams will clash here on Saturday evening, Nov. 23, at 8:30 o'clock.

The colored cagers will go to Chicago the following week to play in the first annual all-star cage contest there on Nov. 29, meeting the College All Stars, which have been selected by a jury of 36 sports writers of newspapers throughout the country. Oshkosh will play in the preliminary of the same card, meeting the Chicago Bruins of the National Basketball League.

Both teams are expected to be at their peaks for the tilt here Saturday. Oshkosh is expected to be primed for the tilt which will precede their National League opening game here the following Wednesday, Nov. 27, when the Akron, O. Goodyears will be the opponent. The Globe Trotters will be at their best to prepare for the all-star tilt in the Chicago Stadium.

Besides winning the professional tournament championship last season, the Harlem team won 158 of 161 games played. In the past 13 seasons, the team has a record of 1,868 victories and only 131 defeats.

The Oshkosh team, Western division champions in the National League for the past three years, has built the 1940-41 aggregation around a nucleus of veteran players and has added new material that has made the All Stars a higher-geared offensive team than ever before. In the three games to date Oshkosh has scored an average of 47 points while holding the opposition to an average of 32.

Phil Zwick Finds Miller Easy; Wins In the 2nd Round

Negro No Match for Veteran; Hoxey Lamers Gets Nod Over Brooks

THE RESULTS
Phil Zwick, Kaukauna, stopped Billy Miller, Chicago, in the second round.
Indian Billy Lee, Milwaukee, defeated Johnny Williams Chicago, knockout in the fifth round.
Johnny Rhodes, Chicago, defeated Johnny Roszina, Milwaukee, technical K. O. in third round.
Speedy Schaeffer, St. Louis, won a decision over Hank Thorson, Minneapolis.
Hoxey Lamers, Little Chute, defeated Harry Brooks, Chicago.

BY GORDON MCINTYRE

Neenah — The Fox river valley's prodigal boxing son, Phil Zwick of Kaukauna, was welcomed back home last night here when they brought out the fatted calf in the form of skinny Billy Miller, Chicago Negro boxer, and allowed the kill to take place in the S. A. Cook armory ring.

It took Zwick a minute or so in the second round to enhance his reputation with a knockout. But from the moment Zwick walked into the center of the ring as the first bell clanged, and delivered a left hook to the body, everyone knew that it was a matter of seconds before the youthful Negro lad would be sprawled on the canvas.

Miller jabbed a couple times with his left in the first but most of the time Zwick was going through a gym workout with the end due any time Phil wanted to go after his opponent.

Fails to Take Full Count

The end came early in the second when Miller went down under barrage of blows. He may be fighting pro but he turned in an amateur stunt when he attempted to get up without taking a respectable count. Referee Louis Schultz of Milwaukee stepped in to look at Miller as he stood up and then let the fight go but it already was over. Miller went down again and that was all.

He still was in a bad way when his seconds finished cutting the gloves off his hands.

The semi windup saw Indian Bill Lee, Milwaukee, hammer Johnny Williams, Chicago, to the floor in the fifth after softening him up with body punches. In the fourth, Lee landed a terrific hook to Williams' stomach and he went down for a count. The final blow in the fifth was a smashing right in the region of the kidney. Williams hardly pressed Lee.

Johnny Roszina, Milwaukee, suffered a bad gash over the eye in the third round of a go with Johnny Rhodes, Chicago, and when the blood flowed down into his eye and over his face, Referee Schultz stopped the fight although Roszina wanted to continue. Rhodes also had a gash but not as bad.

Previous to the injury the boys, recently out of amateur ranks, had mixed freely when in close. When at arm's length there wasn't much action. Roszina had the edge until the injury.

Schaeffer Beats Thorson
Probably the most interesting fight was between Speedy Schaeffer, a rugged veteran from St. Louis and Hank Thorson, booked from Minneapolis, but to all indications a former LaCrosse amateur who appeared here in recent years. Schaeffer won the nod.

Schaeffer could hit from almost any angle and was quicker than the proverbial cat when he chose to get going. On one occasion he rushed Thorson, missed, landed on the second rope after almost going out of the ring, bounded back to the ring, tossed leather at his feet and was tossing leather all in one movement. Schaeffer pummeled Thorson plenty but the

Elm Tree Bakers Drill for Opening Of Talent League

With the opening of the Valley Home Talent basketball league little more than a week away, the Elm Tree Bakers settled down to some hard scrimmage last night under the supervision of their new manager, Eddie Dancisak. The Elm Trees are scheduled to begin league play Thursday, Nov. 28, at Armory D against Clem Bohr's strong Auctioneers from Clintonville.

Cy Burton and Carl Powers, two new members, showed up well during the drill last night and Orv Wonsler was outstanding for the veterans. Mark Catlin, Baker guard, is laid up with an injured ankle but is expected to be in shape for the opening tilt.

Manager Dancisak has called two more practices before the opening game with one at the Y. M. C. A. Friday and the other at the armory Monday.

latter could "take it." On another occasion Schaeffer crouched, weaved and bobbed out of Thorson's way while he leisurely tugged on his gloves until they felt right.

Dartmouth Winner Over Cornell Team

ADMITS ERROR—Two days after the Cornell-Dartmouth football game at Hanover, N. H., Referee W. H. Friesell, Jr. (above) said in Pittsburgh, Pa., "I now am convinced beyond shadow of doubt that I was in error in allowing the winning down."

Two days after the Cornell-Dartmouth football game at Hanover, N. H., Referee W. H. Friesell, Jr. (above) said in Pittsburgh, Pa., "I now am convinced beyond shadow of doubt that I was in error in allowing the winning down."

Cornell scored with less than six seconds to play and the game ended 7 to 3 for Cornell. After Friesell's statement, Cornell conceded that the game was rightfully won by Dartmouth, 3 to 0. Thus Cornell removed itself from the list of the nation's unbeaten teams.

Beloit college is the champion of the Midwest conference in football for the third time in the 18-year history of the league. Cornell's 13 to 7 victory over Carleton knocked the latter out of the title and enabled the Gold, whose schedule was completed a week ago, to head the conference for the first time since 1925. A tie with the defending champion, Ripon, and a loss to Coe were the only blemishes on Beloit's record which shows five wins.

Carleton finished second and Grinnell third. By their wins in the season's finals, Cornell and Knox took fourth and fifth respectively. All teams lost at least one game and all but Monmouth were winners for at least a day. Grinnell had the best offensive record and Ripon the best defensive. Beloit, Carleton, Grinnell and Lawrence had a better season than in 1939; Cornell and Coe about the same, while co-champions Knox and Ripon along with Monmouth, slipped.

Movies Show Referee Allowed Big Red to Score on Fifth Down

New York —(P)— Examination of moving pictures of Saturday's Dartmouth-Cornell football game today showed Cornell had five downs in scoring its touchdown, and Cornell athletic authorities promptly wired Dartmouth they were conceding victory to the Indians by 3-0. The scoreboard showed Cornell 7, Dartmouth 3 at the game's end.

Referee W. H. Friesell, Jr., one of the game's most competent officials, in his report to Asa Bushnell, commissioner of the Eastern Intercollegiate Football association, declared: "On the basis of numerous charts kept by the press and motion pictures of both of the competing colleges I am now convinced beyond a shadow of doubt that I was in error in allowing the winning down."

Chicago —(P)— Football officials, harassed this season as never before, get their names in the headlines only when they do something wrong or questionable.

The current season has found the men in white frequently caught in a cross-fire of criticism from an increasingly enlightened football public, second guessers, disgruntled die-hards and coaches and writers who have the benefit of game movies.

Perhaps the most prominent error was committed last Saturday in the Cornell-Dartmouth game, in which Referee W. H. Friesell, inadvertently allowed Cornell a fifth down in the final minute of play. The hitherto undefeated eleven scored on this illegal play for a 6-3 margin. But Friesell, displaying admirable frankness, admitted his mistake and Cornell later conceded the game to Dartmouth by a 3-0 score.

Friesell also was a principal in a much-disputed angle of Cornell's game with Ohio State. The Big Red team whipped the Bucks soundly, 21 to 7, and afterwards Ohio State charged Carl Snavely with calling signals from the bench. Nothing came of this, Cornell denying the charge and Friesell saying he saw no such maneuvering by Snavely and that he heard no protest from Ohio State during the game.

The "fifth down" incident recalls the 1938 Notre Dame-Carnegie Tech game in which Referee John Getchell advised Tech it was third down when it was fourth. Tech ran one play, whereupon the Irish took the ball on downs in an advantageous spot and scored a touchdown to win, 7-0.

Several weeks ago Washington and Lee's Can Justice plunged over the George Washington U. goal for a touchdown on the final play, the head linesman signalling the score. But Referee Dutch Eberts ruled Justice's knee had hit the ground before he went over, disallowing the tally. W. and L. lost, 20-14.

Ohio State scored an illegal field goal on Purdue to win 17 to 14, but this wasn't the fault of the officials. Charles Maag was substituted illegally by the Bucks early in the game and later re-entered to boot the decisive placement. Coaches, not officials, however, are responsible for substitutions in the Western conference.

Minnesota to 'Shoot Works' Against Badgers

Report Gophers Will Open Bag of Tricks For Impressive Win

Minnesota —(P)— Wisconsin's football team may be in for a bewildering afternoon next Saturday with the possibility Minnesota's undefeated eleven may have an unexpected bag of tricks in addition to its usual crushing power drive.

Minnesota didn't use anything more than straight football against Michigan because of a heavy rain, and it must have been saving something extra for that important contest. Again last week it didn't need anything additional for the crushing 33 to 6 defeat of Purdue.

One thing for sure, Minnesota isn't taking that final game lightly, and will attempt to roll up an impressive victory with an undefeated season and perhaps the national mythical title hanging on its showing.

Co-captain Bob Bjorklund, stalwart center, voiced his team's opinion of the way things are shaping up when he said, "We've got more to play for now than we've ever had" this despite the fact his team copped the Western conference title in the Purdue victory.

"That perfect season is just one game away now," Bjorklund said, "and we're going to keep bearing down until we get it. We'll play our best game of the year at Madison."

Chicago —(P)— George Franck, Minnesota's smooth 175-pound passing, running and kicking star, will make his final bid for all-America honors against Wisconsin Saturday. Franck, operating behind a 212-pound line, started slowly but has been hitting the headlines consistently in recent weeks.

Bruce Smith, the other half of Minnesota's touchdown twins, is not as versatile as Franck, but just as sensational when he gets his hands on the ball.

Wisconsin is rated only an outside chance of tripping the giant Norsemen whose first string line will outweigh the Badgers at least 13 pounds to the man and possibly more.

Ted Axton, Purdue's 167-pound center, played the full 60 minutes Saturday against the Minnesota Gophers, the third straight game in which he has gone the route. Bill Green gained all of Iowa's 77 yards by rushing against Notre Dame, most of it coming in the final period. In the first 50 minutes Iowa had earned only 11 yards through, over and around the Irish. Fritz Criesler is planning to overhaul Michigan's pass defense in anticipation of an Ohio State overhead attack Saturday.

Northwestern has played to 350,000 spectators in seven games. Another 48,500 will be added to this handsome aggregate Saturday when a sellout throng will witness the game with Notre Dame at Evansville, second capacity crowd of the home campaign. The Wildcats are expected to be at full strength for the Irish test. Steve Juzwik, Notre Dame's star right halfback, is bothered by pains in his side and may be forced to undergo an appendectomy. Three Indiana regulars, Emil Uremovich, Joe Toft and Dwight Gahn, may be out of the Purdue game with injuries.

Northwestern's Alf Bauman is rapidly gaining recognition as the best tackle in the conference. The same might be said for Michigan's Ed Frutig, the punt-blocking end who has been a consistent headliner for the Wolverines.

Green Bay East, which won the Fox Valley conference football title once more, had the best offensive and defensive statistics released today show. East scored seven wins against no losses and scored 136 points against 19 for opponents.

Fond du Lac in second place, also rated second in statistics. The Cardinals won six games and lost one, to Green Bay East. They scored 107 points and had 38 scored against them, half of them being racked up by Appleton High school.

Appleton high finished in seventh place, the same as a year ago, with two wins and five defeats. Last year the Terriers won only one game. The club scored 52 points and had 85 scored against it.

Individual scoring records show that Bob Herliche of Green Bay East scored 67 points for a new conference record. They were more than half his team's total for the season. He had 11 touchdowns and a single point after touchdown.

Arden Luker, Oshkosh, was second with 48 points. He scored seven touchdowns and six points after touchdown.

Appleton's high scorer was Chuck Kliefoth who scored four touchdowns.

Bits About Bowling

by Dick Davis

A meeting of the Appleton Bowling association scheduled for next Sunday has been postponed because it is feared too many of the interested keglers will be up in the north woods trying to bring home the venison. The session has been rescheduled for Tuesday evening, Nov. 27, but this is subject to change. When the session is called, league officers, team captains, interested bowlers and sponsors will gather around at the Elks club and make plans for the current season and the second annual city tournament. The dates and site of the tournament will be one of the major items of business. Experience acquired last year will be applied to make the 1941 event even more successful than last spring's venture.

Whether the election of officers will be held now or next spring is undetermined as yet. Present holders, elected last December, may be asked to hold over until spring when candidates can be considered on the basis of their interest and participation in the tournament. At the meeting next week, however, a tournament committee may be named.

Another item of business expected to get no little attention is the raise of 50 cents in the sanction fees to $1.50 per team. Many are the inquiries we've received about this boost and all's we can say is that it is in accordance with American Bowling congress regulations. In previous years, when there was no actual association, teams weren't paying the required amount.

The fee of $1.50 is the minimum A.B.C. charge while $2 is the maximum levy. So you see, it could be worse. Of the sanction money, $1 goes to the A.B.C. while 50 cents stays in Appleton. The disposition of this 50 cents is something to be decided by the bowlers at the forthcoming meeting and we look for a big turnout of keglers to see where their money is going. It may be earmarked as compensation for the association secretary, it may be used toward defraying city tournament expenses or it may be dumped into a working treasury with which the bowling association could sponsor some high-powered exhibitions or conduct a bowling school.

Other matters which may come up are participation in the Fox river valley, state and national bowling tournaments, use of gross scores in newspaper accounts of matches, adoption of a revised constitution and by-laws and any other ideas bowlers of Appleton would like to get off their chest or see materialize. Every league is to have at least one representative at the meeting but we're hoping individual bowlers will interest themselves in the affairs of the association and show support for the program by shining around.

Comes another letter this week, (this is getting to be just like Dorothy Dix.) from Jerry Lamers of Little Chute who takes us to task for labeling setups of 6-10 and 4-7 as splits. Jerry is absolutely right. Obviously they aren't splits. He points out where we were guilty of the errors and we welcome his sincere criticism. We're not trying to rationalize when we say that what probably happened is the persons who submitted the information got the right church but the wrong pew and mislabeled the numbers in recording the "baby" splits, 2-7 and 3-10. In shaping up the column, we failed to catch the errors. Thanks, Jerry, and come again. In the split department this week we find Jim Detry cleaning away the 3-10, 2-7 and 9-7. Carl Heinrich got the 8-9 and the 4-7-10 while Eddie Starnard snagged the 5-7. In the feminine ranks, L. Black had a big night as she whisked the 4-7-10, the 7-5 and the 10-5. S. Sonntag took care of the 9-7.

Choice Bits: Bill Jacobson and "Frosty" Johnson have rolled on the same team for 25 years. . . . You might say they're practically inseparable. . . . Dr. Martin Eich, proud papa of a likely looking kegler, was so busy handing out cigars that he hardly had time to bowl. . . . He opened with a 111 and totaled 276. . . . Eddie Starnard passed up a tonk game after work to go home and put a slightly wrenched knee under a heat lamp for an hour and a half. . . . He still didn't win a turkey. . . . The Rev. F. C. Reuter finally got that new ball (and form) to click and pounded a 220. . . . We wonder why Jerry Zapp and Ted Jansen have absented themselves this year?

Dropped in at the Hahn's alleys and found things rapidly taking shape. They say there's 5,000 nails in each bowling alley and we believe it after watching the carpenters pound away at those strips. With a break in the weather, they'll be open for business about the first of December.

There's a wealth of bowling instruction books on the market this season. Joe Wilman, 1939 A.B.C. all-events champion, has written one, Ned Day another, and Hank Marino and Billy Sixty have collaborated on a third.

Not that it makes any difference but the bowling ball of Primo Carnera, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, still holds the record for span. It measured 5 1/2 inches from finger to thumb hole.

We View With Pride Dept: R. Murgenthaler of the Women's Goodfellowship league steamed a 223 game and 561 series. . . . Ray Dohr banged a 218. . . . Pearl Hornike, a topnotch pinsetterette, wallowed 166, 226 and 215 for a 607. . . . Lillian Klebenow, another of the better women bowlers, initiated a 132 and then went to town with a 205 and 209 for a 546 triple. . . . M. Robertson, who carries a 44-pin handicap, came through with a nice round 200 from scratch. . . . Al Rochm has been doing some neat chucking and recently posted a 192, 202 and 245 for a 639. . . . Ray Kleist did himself proud with a 215. . . . Melvin Schneider has been hotter than the recent political campaign. . . . Jamming a 654 total on singles of 195, 212 and 247. . . . Dr. C. L. Koib, that bowler of bowlers who was "sighted" in the news columns last season, came through with a 221. . . .

What the well-dressed woman should wear on a bowling alley was illustrated by the Adler Brau keglerettes of the National Women's league when they broke out with flashy red uniforms at the Elks alleys. We note, also, that they've abandoned skirts in favor of slacks.

The City Major league probably is the best dressed circuit in Appleton these days. Three teams, Feiner Beers, Aid Association for Lutherans and Egert's Bar, have complete, colorful uniforms. There's nothing like uniform garb to give a team added snap.

Pin Patter: H. Schultz drilled a 236 and then drifted off with a 139. . . . M. Berry and H. Dillon, kegling with the Rolling Pins in the Kitchen league, both posted 311's. . . . Ray, or maybe it's Ralph, Schmidt, dilledualled with a 138 and then punched a 249. . . . B. Koltisch hit 139, rapped a 202, and then tugged to a 134. . . . H. Rohde rattled 124, 123 and 124. . . . R. Natrop began with a 104 and topped things off with a 211. . . . C. Kuck tallied a 123 and then thumped a 219 which, with his handicap, was good for a turkey in a Y league. . . . W. Lillge scored 120, got hot with a 202, and then scored 120. . . . O. Perrine got away to a flying start with a 259 and skidded to a 124 in his third effort. . . .

From the N. Appleton street business district comes one of the best bowling yarns of the season. It seems there was a feud between Hooks and Tony barber shop keglers and Badger Panatorium maple mashers. Fred Zuelke, sponsor of the Panatorium quint, thought so much of his team that he backed his confidence to the extent of a case of refreshments. Hooks and Tony keglers took him up on it but in retrospect they sensed a catch. (It wouldn't be nice to say "smelled a rat.") After a good deal of slugging, a pinister plot was revealed. A rug had been laid in a long hallway of the Badger Panatorium establishment and a mattress put at one end. Some balls were procured and the Panatorium proteges practiced there to their hearts content.

Despite the secret drills, however, Hooks and Tony bowlers took their opponents to the cleaners when they met in the Merchants league Friday night by scores of 916, 991 and 1,031 for a 2,938 series to marks of 932, 939 and 934 for a 2,714 total.

In the not-so-good field this week we find Don Tiedt winning a nifty pin spot for his 248 series on games on 70, 86 and 92. Other dubious scores include W. Geenen 90, G. Beglinger 89, H. Schmirler 80, 89 95, 85—265, C. Radder 89 113 91—293, E. Gates 89 98 110—297, Volkman 72—283.

Pros Decide on Playoff Matters

Extra Periods Will Be Resorted to to Break Divisional Ties

Washington —(AP)—The National Professional Football league decided yesterday on a method for deciding possible tie games in divisional deadlocks for the championship playoff.

League officials gathered here in a special meeting called as a situation developed which may see the Washington Redskins and the Brooklyn Dodgers tie for the eastern championship. The Chicago Bears, Green Bay Packers and Detroit Lions are in a scramble for the western title.

If the score is tied at the end of the regulation playing time, the teams will toss a coin to decide who takes the ball and the first team to score will be declared the winner. One period will be played if no score is made by either team, then after a two-minute intermission the contest will proceed until one team has scored.

This method will be used only in case of a divisional tie and not for the actual championship. Existing rules provide for co-champions.

The championship playoff will be held either at Griffith Stadium, Washington, or Ebbett's field, Brooklyn. The dates will be either Dec. 8 or 15 in case of a tie in either division. In event of an eastern deadlock, the playoff will be at Washington.

If the Bears and Packers tie, Stork said, the playoff will be at Wrigley field, Chicago, and if the Lions are in the deadlock the playoff will be at the University of Detroit stadium.

Jimmy Wilson Is No Popoff

New Cub Manager Has Nothing to Say About Altering Bruin Lineup

Chicago —(AP)—Jimmy Wilson hadn't been manager of the Chicago Cubs more than 15 minutes before he let it be known that he is no popoff.

"Why should I start talking right away about what I am going to do?" he asked. "I'm no popoff. I want to look the situation over before making any recommendations."

Wilson, formerly with Cincinnati, agreed to terms in a conference yesterday with James Gallagher, general manager, and Charles (Boots) Weber, vice president, and signed a two-year contract last night. The salary figure was thought to be about $20,000.

Wilson, however, revealed immediately that he wouldn't back away from any attractive trades for material. "While I saw plenty of the Cubs last season," he said, "I wasn't looking at them with the same slant I now must take as their manager. But there is one thing certain, I'll listen to all trade propositions. From what little I know at this time I figure the big need is pitching."

Illinois Press Box to Be Modernized, Heated

Champaign, Ill. —(AP)—The press box at University of Illinois Memorial Stadium, called the coldest, bleakest spot in the Western conference, is to be modernized and heated after a delay of 17 years.

Louis Michael Tobin, director of athletic publicity, is back of the project.

Members of the news writing fraternity vow it is 10 to 15 degrees colder inside the concrete, glass-enclosed press box than in the open stands, and facetiously refer to the place as "Eskimo hill."

Gophers Again Hold 1st Place in Grid Ratings

Texas Aggies are Second, Stanford's Indians Third

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
New York —(AP)—While some football authorities have advocated abolition of the point after touchdown on the ground that it gives false indications of the strength of teams, one point still seems to carry a lot of weight when it comes to ranking the nation's leading teams. Minnesota, on top of the list for the second straight week as 199 sports experts rank the teams, has won two of its most important games by one-point margins; Stanford, ranked third behind the Texas Aggies, was just one point better than Santa Clara when they met, and Boston college's 19-18 victory over Georgetown last Saturday enabled the Eagles to advance from eighth place to fourth.

The fall of Cornell brought this new "big four" of the title contenders into being. Although most of the ballots were cast before it was decided officially that Cornell had lost 3-0 to Dartmouth, instead of winning 7-3, the experts thought even that showing was so poor that the Big Red team was dropped from second place to fifth. Minnesota polled 68 first place votes and 66 for second to amass a total of 1,544 points. The Gophers wind up their season this week against Wisconsin. The Aggies, picked first by 59 experts and second by 51, totalled 1,485 points. They remain idle this week preparing for their final game against Texas Nov. 28.

Stanford, third of the big four with 1,331 points, also is idle this week preparing for its climax game with California. Boston college, with 1,043.5 points, meets Auburn Saturday.

Rankings of other teams this week include: 7. Michigan, 821 points; 8. Nebraska, 329; 10. Northwestern, 105; 14. Notre Dame, 59.25.

Among top individual scorers were M. Mollitor with 190, R. Abendroth 191 199-568, F. Herres 193-516, A. Gritzmacher 529, Dr. Lally 203 215-568, Dr. Frawley 210-575, J. Balliet 201 190-539, I. ## Juniors Win Class Crown

Defeat Seniors in Deciding Game of School Cage Event

Neenah — The juniors won the championship in the annual Neenah High school class basketball tournament when they took the final and deciding game from the seniors, 25 to 12, Monday noon in the gymnasium.

Schmidt and Luebben sparked the champions, each scoring six points, while Kuehl and Gottfried each counted four points for the winners. Junior led the seniors, collecting six points.

The two teams battled to a 2-all deadlock at the end of the first quarter, but by halftime intermission, the juniors had climbed to a 15 to 6 lead. During the third period the juniors failed to score and the seniors got only two points.

The juniors won three straight games to cap the tournament crown and the old Anspach trophy. The sophomores, who won two games and lost one, took second place, and the seniors were third with one victory against two defeats. The freshmen lost three games.

City Dartball Loop Games are Canceled

Neenah — Contests in the City Dartball league scheduled for Thursday night at the recreation building have been canceled because of Thanksgiving day. Paul Stacker, manager, reported today.

The schedule for the week at the day center includes a practice dartball game tonight and two events Wednesday night. The Winnebago county council of the American Legion will meet at 7:30 and exhibition dartball games between two teams from the City league and two Oshkosh teams will be staged. A dance will be held Friday night.

College Head Will Speak at Day School

Menasha — Dr. Frank E. Baker, president of Milwaukee State Teachers college, will be the speaker at the parent activity program of Winnebago Day school at 4 o'clock next Tuesday afternoon. Parents and friends of students have been invited to attend.

Entertains Club

Menasha — Russell Leddy, manager of the Orpheum theater in Green Bay and former vaudeville actor, entertained the Menasha Lions club with a number of skits and stories at the Monday noon luncheon meeting.

Board Acts on Appropriations For 3 Courts

Requests of County, Municipal Units Cut; Circuit's Is Raised

Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau
Oshkosh — Changes were made by the Winnebago county board yesterday afternoon in the budget request for the circuit, county, and municipal courts. The county board voted to reduce the appropriations asked for the county and municipal courts and raised that asked by the circuit court.

The municipal court was granted an appropriation of $9,203.12, although it had requested $10,588.12 in the 1941 budget estimate. The reduction was a saving of over $2,200 from the 1940 budget appropriation. The county court's request was cut from $12,210 to $11,810, a $600 reduction from last year's budget.

The budget request of the circuit court was raised to $11,450 from $11,000. In the 1940 budget it had received an appropriation of $12,780. The county board also appropriated $5,145 for the county superintendent of school's department and $2,200 for the support of the county supervising teacher.

Pension Fund
An appropriation of $6,000 which will be added to the budget of the pension department was passed by the county board yesterday after the money will be used for payment of old age pensions to persons having no legal settlement within the county.

Supervisor Earl Hughes of the town of Neenah told the board that the request was made because of people moving into the county and demanding a pension after they have lived in the county for 10 days.

The highway committee was authorized to purchase all necessary machinery and equipment from the machinery fund and a petition for the relocation of state highway 116 through the city of Omro also was referred to the highway committee.

The report of the Sunny View sanatorium was presented by J. J. Davis, president of the board of trustees of the sanatorium. Miss Agnes Mattson, superintendent of the sanatorium also filed a report. Other reports received yesterday were by the trustees of the county home and asylum and the county physician.

False Alarm
Neenah — Firemen at 9 o'clock this morning answered a false alarm at the Neenah Hardwood Products when the automatic alarm at the plant went off accidentally.

W. H. Clifford Reappointed to Sewage Board

Gustav Kalfahs, Sr., Again Is Named to Cemetery Commission

Neenah — W. H. Clifford, 1001 Nicolet boulevard, Neenah, president of the Neenah-Menasha sewerage commission, was reappointed to the commission by the city council at a meeting last night at city hall.

Gustav Kalfahs, Sr., who has been a member of the board of cemetery commissioners since its inception, also was reappointed by the council last night.

The reappointments featured a short business meeting at which the council reaffirmed its previous decision to build a garbage disposal incinerator, and the aldermen favored appropriating at least a portion of the cost of constructing the proposed plant in the budget next month.

Alderman Andrew Andersen, chairman of the public improvements committee which has been investigating the proposed project, reported that an incinerator large enough to take care of Neenah for many years would cost between $25,000 and $30,000, and it was agreed that the proposed plant would be constructed at the present dumping grounds in the town of Menasha.

Little Maintenance Cost
Alderman John Heigl pointed out that after the plant is constructed, the maintenance cost will be very little, not much more than operating costs of the present system. It also was pointed out that there is no odor from the plant. Several of the aldermen who visited a plant at Wauwatosa spoke favorably of the system of disposing of the garbage.

Alderman Andersen told the council that while the Kimberly-Clark corporation wouldn't contribute directly toward the construction cost, it would pay for the garbage burned in the plant from its mills on a similar basis as it does with the sewerage disposal plant. Alderman Carl Loehning told the council that it is in the best interest of the city to build its own plant. The council formerly had suggested that Neenah and Menasha build a joint plant.

Mayor Edwin A. Kalfahs told the council that the finance committee and the board of education would meet at Neenah High school tonight to study the board's proposed budget, and he said that aldermen not on the committee were invited to attend. He also said that the council expects the board to give the aldermen copies of its proposed budget.

Would Seal Meters
Alderman Heigl suggested that all water meters in the city be sealed. He contended that it was no reflection on the honesty of citizens but was a good practice. He also proposed that the council consider purchase a lot on Fairview avenue owned by the Water Works commission for the erection of a voting place for the First ward. Alderman Loehning suggested the use of Neenah High school as a voting place, but both contended that a more centrally located poll be found for that ward.

The committee on public buildings was authorized to purchase a sign for the police station, and the council granted a beer license to Jack Zima, manager of the Valley Inn hotel, without fee. It was pointed out that a beer license has to be issued to a person and not a corporation. One had been issued to Irving Gilpatrick, former manager, but when the hotel changed managers, his license was canceled.

Alderman Edward Schultz, chairman of the finance committee, reported that during the month the city incurred 131 accounts totaling $5,101.17. A. G. Prunski, city engineer, reported that city crews were finishing curb and gutter work today on Congress street and the crews immediately would begin installing sewers on Elm and Cecil streets.

The mayor, City Clerk H. S. Zemlock and City Attorney John W. O'Leary were authorized to investigate an offer of Joseph Wocinski to deed land on Western avenue to the city to widen the thoroughfare. Alderman Harvey Nash, chairman of the traffic and safety committee, reported that the committee was investigating the proposed plan of painting red, white and blue stripes on electric light poles designating school zones.

New Fire Truck to be Shipped to Menasha Latter Part of Week

Menasha — Menasha's new 1,000 gallon pumper fire truck probably will be shipped from the Mack factory at Allentown, Pa. sometime the latter part of this week. Originally the truck was to have been shipped last week but production was delayed because of work on a government order.

The truck will be shipped from the factory directly to Menasha where official tests will be made. Four hours of continuous pumping will be part of the test.

The fire department has received 1,000 feet of new 2 1/2 inch hose. The department now has about 4,000 feet of hose available.

Old-Fashioned Helmet Sought as Trophy for Police Cage Contest

(Post-Crescent Oshkosh Bureau)
Oshkosh — Anyone knowing the whereabouts of an old-fashioned policeman's helmet, similar to those worn in the gay 90's and in the "Keystone Kop" pictures, may contact Mayor George F. Oaks of Oshkosh who would like to present it to the winners of the annual basketball game between the police departments of Neenah and Oshkosh.

The annual contest will be staged as a preliminary to the Oshkosh All Stars-Harlem Globe Trotters professional basketball game to be played at the South Park school gym here Saturday night. Mayor Oaks would like to establish the old-style policeman's helmet, should he find one, as an annual trophy to be sought by the police basketball teams of Neenah and Oshkosh.

Cuts Cage Team To 12 Players For Omro Contest

Jorgensen Retains 15 Men for Second Squad Competition

Neenah — Coach Ole Jorgensen today slashed his Neenah High school basketball squad to 12 players, including 12 on the first team and 15 on the second squad as the Red Rockets prepared for their opening game Tuesday night, Nov. 26, against Omro in a nonconference game. It is the final cut.

The first team is composed of Captain Buxton Kettering, Richard Miller, Julius Hertefeld, Douglas Haufe, James Gottfried, Charles Kettering, George Hoyman, Daniel Kuehl, Milton Luka, James O'Neill, Eugene Johnson and Vernice Wolmerman.

The second team, which will be coached by Ivan Williams, assistant basketball mentor, will consist of Charles Shoman, Daniel Clark, Douglas Haas, Kenneth Haufe, Martin Meyer, Paul Schmidt, Dino Burts, Frank Luebben, William Daniel, Ralph Parker, Robert Haas, Douglas Crane, James Jersid, Vincent Lampert and Charles Krueger. Because Omro hasn't a second team, the Neenah reserves Tuesday night will play the Neenah police basketball team, consisting of Chief Irving Stilt, captain, Clarence Teopler, Henry Kohfeldt, Paul Stacker, Herbert Parker, Ray Carlson, Leonard Neubauer, B. Fisher.

The preliminary game will begin at 7 o'clock, and the Neenah-Omro contest will be at 8 o'clock with William C. Pickett and Warner A. Witte, Appleton, as officials.

Neenah has four days in which to prepare for its opening game because of the Thanksgiving recess this week. Omro is playing independent basketball this year, having dropped out of its league because of lack of competition. In the regional tournament last year, the Omro quintet upset two favorites before being eliminated in the finals.

Neenah will play Appleton Saturday night, Nov. 30, at Appleton before it opens its Northeastern Wisconsin conference season against Shawano Dec. 6 at Shawano.

Mayhew Sets Pace In K. C. Circuit

Neenah — Del Mayhew paced the Knights of Columbus Bowling league last night at Neenah alleys when he rolled a 601 total on games of 224, 180 and 200.

Dr. L. D. Costello rolled second high total of 590 on lines of 220, 167 and 203 and W. Bevers hit a 576. C. Peerenboom rolled high game of 243.

The Marquettes won two games from the Ninas to move into a lead deadlock with the latter team. Three teams scored straight victories. They were Santa Marias, San Pedro and Admirals.

Driver Dozes, Auto Hits Safety Island

Menasha — The undercarriage of a car driven by Robert Hansen, 832 Tayco street, Menasha, was damaged when it struck the safety island at the Brin corner at 8:15 this morning, according to Police Chief Alex Slomski. Hansen told police that he had worked all night and dozed off on his way home. The lights on the island were not damaged.

Welfare Council to Hold Final Meeting

Neenah — Twin City Council of Social Agencies will hold the final meeting of 1940 at 7:30 this evening in the Elisha D. Smith library auditorium. Reports and election of a nominating committee will be principal business.

Neenah Y. W. C. A. Secretary Writes Book in Spare Time

Neenah — For the last five years behind the reception desk of the Twin City Y. W. C. A., Miss Gwendolyn Owen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Owen, 736 S. Park avenue, has answered telephone, taken dictation and typed programs for "Y" activities, quietly, unassumingly.

Today she is more than Gwen, the secretary at the "Y," for announcement has been made by Fortuny's Publishers, Inc., New York City, that Miss Owen's book, "O, Those Little Things!" has been accepted and will be off the press early next spring. Incoming calls at the "Y" Monday were for Miss Owen as friends and acquaintances called to congratulate her.

Miss Owen has been "scribbling" for about three years. Her book was written during last year in her leisure time and "really isn't anything" according to Miss Owen. Miss Owen is particularly interested in her short stories which she plans to submit this winter. She wants to have those short stories accepted more than anything else.

The book centers on the main character, Miss Owen's uncle, J. P. Jensen, former architect with an Oshkosh firm. Descriptions of the Fox River Valley, the Y. W. C. A., and little incidents at the "Y" have been made a part of the story.

The first review of the book states that "high spirited and vivacious, rambunctious and rowdy, tender and philosophic, the characters believ that humor is the greatest tonic in the world. . . . The 'little things' perhaps hold more essential truth than the vital issues now at stake in the world today. This is a book which ignites the spark of humor which we all possess to the end that we are awakened to a clearer, infinitely more sympathetic outlook on life, and a fuller understanding of our fellow-men."

Mrs. Ted Yonan Names Committees Of VNA Auxiliary

Neenah — Committees were announced by Mrs. Ted Yonan, president, at the November business meeting of the auxiliary to the Twin City Visiting Nurse association Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Ivaux Andersen, 428 Ninth street.

Mrs. W. F. Cook was named chairman of the educational committee and will be assisted by Mrs. Andersen. Mrs. E. T. Hoffmeister was named chairman of the dental clinic committee. Mrs. F. S. Seaborn and Mrs. Fred Deutsch will assist.

Miss Susan Beals heads the publicity committee with Miss Jane Sensenbrenner and Mrs. J. P. Keating as assistants. Mrs. Yonan will be membership chairman and Mrs. C. Simoniak, Mrs. Albert Chambers and Mrs. Leo Schubart are the other members.

Miss Marjorie Gilbert will be chairman of transportation, assisted by Mrs. W. A. Merigold and Miss Catharine Beals.

Mrs. Albert Chambers was named to represent the Auxiliary at the meetings of the Twin City Council of Social Agencies.

Roosevelt PTA Hears Report On Safety Work

Group Will Support Move for Pedestrian, Bicycle Span Over Fox

Neenah — Roosevelt school Parent-Teacher association, meeting Monday evening in the school for the November session, heard a safety committee report on the progress of the joint committees' action to insure better traffic conditions for student bicyclists.

Gaylord Loehning, president of the Roosevelt school association, ex-officio member of the Roosevelt safety committee, speaking for F. F. Martin, chairman, who was out of the city, told the group about the recent meeting of the council, businessmen and safety committees of the Neenah High school, Kimberly and Roosevelt associations. The PTA will support, as an immediate measure, if the second bridge project does not materialize, a foot bridge project across the Fox river to run parallel with but east of the present railroad bridge with entry into Shattuck park. The bridge, which could be just wide enough for pedestrians and bicyclists, could be built at a cost of between $15,000 and $18,000. Railroad company officials had given tentative assurance to the committees that the company would grant necessary easement of property.

Mrs. Laura Ulery, director of teaching curriculum, Miss Celia Adams and Miss Ruth Pittlekow, primary instructors, discussed methods of teaching reading, writing and spelling in the primary grades. They explained

The Road to Shani Lun

By Rita Mohler Hanson

"I was told to bring you to Pai Shu," he answered.

So that was that. Lynn sat back as the bearers lifted the chair and trotted out through the compound gate; the lama followed on his brown pony. The pilgrim was not in sight.

A two hours' journey among a stream of fleeing refugees brought them to the east gate of Pai Shu. The narrow winding Chinese streets swarmed with local citizens, fugitives from the country districts, burly Mongol horsemen resembling American Indians, almond-eyed Chinese Mohammedans who looked like Jews, Russians, blue-eyed Chinese—people of all mixtures and races except a member of her own race of whom Lynn could ask help.

"Here I go deeper and deeper into the woods—dream-driven," sighed Lynn as she finally entered a narrow hutting between brick walls broken at various intervals by massive red gates firmly closed and barred.

"Remember this," he said. "The gods, the demons—the whole universe, is but a mirage which exists in the mind, springs from it, sinks into it. There is nothing of which to be afraid."

"I wish I could believe it," sighed Lynn.

The bearers lifted her chair and trotted into the compound. Swerving around a devil-screen picturing a golden dragon gambling among pink lotus blossoms in a sky-blue sea, they halted before an orange-colored door flanked by potted cedars. Attendants sprang forward to take the lama's horse; he spoke to Lynn as she stepped from the chair.

"This apartment is yours," he said pointing to the orange door. "And the maid within is yours. Temu Dairin rode away this morning and has not yet returned. He hopes to bring your brother back with him." The old man bowed. "I go to my devotions."

So Dick and Temu Dairin were having it out, she thought. Whatever could their quarrel be?

A Chinese girl in blue silk native costume bowed deeply and motioned to a charcoal brazier where Lynn could warm herself.

"I you slave," she said, taking Lynn's wraps. "You like me mleebe?"

Criticize Draft Ban

On Former Prisoners

Columbus, Ohio—A former army man and head of one of the nation's largest prisons, Warden Frank B. Henderson of Ohio penitentiary today criticized a war department order for rejection of potential draftees on parole or probation or who have been convicted of a felony.

"After a man is released from prison his rights and privileges are restored to him," said Henderson, a former brigadier general. "The federal government by this act is holding over additional punishment which was not prescribed by the courts. I feel absolutely that these men are entitled to serve in the army."

Killed by Train

Wisconsin Rapids—Joseph Waubens, 25, of Wisconsin Rapids, was killed by a Green Bay and Western train yesterday as he walked along the railroad tracks.

HELEN KELLER

To "hear" with her hands and to "see" with her fingers! That is what Helen Keller learned to do, and through that learning, she managed to use the voice which, in a sense, she lost after a tragic event when she was only an infant. As a baby, starting life in a small flower-and-vine-covered house in an Alabama village, Helen was like other infants, but at the age of one and a half, she became ill. It appears that the doctor did not know much about what was wrong with her, though he called the sickness "congestion" of the stomach and brain. There was fear that the little one might die, but at last she became well again - except that she could no longer hear or see! Then followed dark years. She forgot words she had learned, because she did not hear them. Her father and mother, cared for the child lovingly until they were able to obtain a teacher for her. On a day in March, 1887, Miss Anne Sullivan came to Alabama to teach the child, then not quite seven years old. The teaching given by this young woman from the East proved to be the most important help in Helen Keller's life. Slowly, by hard, painful steps, the little girl worked her way out of the darkness. In later years Miss Keller told how she learned the real meaning of the words which Miss Sullivan "spelled into her hand." The teacher tried to show her that the touches for "d-o-l-l" meant "doll," and that "w-a-t-e-r" meant water, but the child did not really know what it was all about until one day: "We walked down the path to the well-house. . . . Someone was drawing water, and my teacher placed my hand under the spout. As the cool stream gushed over one hand, she spelled into the other the word 'water.' I stood still, my whole attention fixed upon the motion of her fingers. Suddenly . . . I knew that 'w-a-t-e-r' meant the wonderful cool something that was flowing over my hand!" From that point, Helen's progress was rapid. She learned hundreds of other words, which were spelled into her hands. By feeling the throat and tongue of the one speaking to her, she learned to speak, and the time came when she gave lectures to large crowds. Miss Keller was graduated, with honors, from Radcliffe college in 1904. She is the author of several books, including "The Story of My Life," a finely-written account of her childhood and young womanhood. (For Biography section of your scrapbook.) If you wish a copy of the leaflet "Flying Machine Pioneers," just send a self-addressed, 3c stamped envelope. Address to me in care of this newspaper.

Many Think Shrubs are Most Interesting of Native Plants

BY CLARA HUSSONG

To many people, shrubs are the most interesting of all our native plants. Continuing the discussion of the vegetation of Wisconsin's dry sandy plains, begun several weeks ago, we find that there are six or eight wild shrubs growing in these dry prairies, and a number of additional species where the soil is more moist. Next to the jack oak which in a sandy country is more often a shrub than a tree, the tallest plant of the prairie pussywillow. There are more than 20 species of willows in the state and many byrds, altogether a hard group to classify but the prairie willow has certain earmarks by which it can be known.

It grows from four to seven feet high in a wide spreading clump, due to many shoots sent up from the roots. The leaves are about two inches long and half an inch wide. The under side of the leaf has a whitish bloom and the upper is deep green with a white midvein. We can look for the blossoming of the catkins a little later than those of the common pussy willow of the swamps.

New Jersey Tea
Another shrub growing in a spreading clump, but only a foot or two high, is the New Jersey tea, so named because its leaves were used as a substitute for imported tea during the Revolutionary war and for years in the sandy prairies.

The inland Jersey tea has lanceolate leaves and broad, somewhat flattened, clusters of white flowers which appear early in June. Common Jersey tea has broader and more pointed leaves than the inland variety. Its smaller, more rounded, clusters of flowers appear in late June and last through July. Redroot is another name given the Jersey tea because of their bright red roots. Both varieties are considered good for ornamental purposes in dry sandy ground.

Those who know the sandy plains are thoroughly familiar with the sweet-smelling shrub, sweet fern, not by name, at least by sight. It is known to many as "sweet sage" or "sweet shrub." Its finely-cut leaves resemble those of ferns but its woody stems, spring catkins and bur-like fruit tell us that it is not a fern.

Sweet fern belongs to the bayberry family. It has a relative, sweet kale, said to grow in boggy spots in the northern part of the state. I have been looking for it for a number of years but have never run across it. If there are any bog trotting readers of this column who know of its presence in this area, I should like to hear from them.

Wild roses are common in the prairie lands and the variety you are most likely to see is the pasture rose. Thus, the most common species in the state, is at home everywhere; along roadsides, in pastures and hayfields, at edges of woods, on hillsides and plains. It flourishes in both wet and dry situations. Sometimes the pale, meadow rose (Rosa blanda) occurs in prairies also, especially if the ground is not too dry.

The species mentioned thus far are the ones you are almost certain to find in any sandy plain of the state. Occasionally others are found which are common enough in certain areas. During the past summer and fall I have taken a census of all the plants found in a sandy region in Marinette county. Additional shrubs I found there were the snowberry, bearberry, blueberries and huckleberries and the threetoothed cinquefoil.

The garden snowberry is familiar to most of us and the wild shrub resembles it a good deal. Like the pasture rose it is at home in many types of ground; woodlands and plains, on rocky hillsides and along streams. If the recent wind hasn't knocked off all the white berries, you will find them on the bushes until late in fall.

Bearberry is a member of the heath family. It grows in mats close to the ground, its long trailing stems spreading out all around it. The dark green shining leaves are evergreen, as so many of the heath family's leaves are. It bears a red berry, about the size of a wintergreen berry, which is relished by the upland game birds who frequent this shrub called "partridge berry" but the real partridge berry is a smaller, daintier plant growing in moist mossy spots.

Found Strange Plant

Some of our blueberries and huckleberries grow in the dry sandy soil of the oak prairies and others grow in marshes and bogs. Blueberries can be told from huckleberries both in flowers and in fruit. The blossoms of the huckleberry are reddish and sticky, the fruit black. Blueberry blossoms are pinkish and are not sticky and the fruit is usually blue, rarely black but without the bloom.

Last June while collecting specimens of prairie plants I came across a strange shrub. It grew less than a foot high and its white, five-petaled cherry-like blossoms suggested the rose family. The rose family is large and varied, taking in such diversified plants as strawberries and mountain ash.

After looking through half a dozen books, paying especial attention to the rose family, I gave up and sent the specimen to A. M.

Dizzy Doings of Burglars Provide Bulk of Screwy News

BY GLADWIN HILL

New York—The Burglars' Mutual Protective association probably will protest, but the fact seems to be that their profession is waxing a bit daft.

Two ad-libbed burglars caught in Indianapolis the other day had a portable radio tuned to the police transmitter that sent out the alarm for them. . . . Another Indianapolis burglar stole a suit from one house and then stole a dress from another house—and left the suit in its place. . . .

A thief in Austin, Minn., stole a flock of chickens, and a few days later returned them—with two extras. . . . And a holdup man in Eugene, Ore., made a motorist give him a driving lesson so he could steal the car. . . .

A Kansas City burglar stole a purse containing $4.50 and then absently-mindedly left his own purse, containing 50 cents. . . . A Dallas tire thief left his false teeth behind. . . . And a burglar ransacked a Pasadena, Calif., home and then left a note: "Please forgive me—I didn't take a thing" . . .

The light-fingered boys are getting from them.

ting mighty eccentric about their loot, too—

In Topeka, Kas., a thief stole two football tackling dummies. . . . Two California bandits ran off with a ton of quicksilver. . . . A shoplifter in Columbia, S. C. lifted 10 packages of headache powders. . . . And a thief in San Diego took a fan dancer's fan.

But the dumbest one in some time was the unidentified burglar in Mt. Vernon, Ill., who escaped with 3,000 of a political candidate's campaign cards. The candidate advertised that he'd pay him to distribute them.

Really Is Town's Leading Citizen

Union City, Okla.—When Dr. D. P. Richardson takes a vacation, the town of Union City, population 500, virtually closes up shop until he returns.

For you might say Dr. Richardson is Union City and that its residents are just members of his family.

Since 1894, he has been the only doctor in town, the only dentist, president of the only bank, the only druggist, the postmaster and a leading retail business man.

And, to top it off, he operates three farms and is interested in a cotton gin.

In his 45 years of medical practice, Dr. Richardson has delivered 2,500 babies, estimates he was on hand for the arrival of half the present population of Union City. Just out of medical school, he came here with 10 cents in his pocket and ideas about making money.

He saved his earnings and when the local druggist died he acquired the business. Later, he bought a controlling interest in the bank.

In 1914, he was appointed postmaster. He has served as president of the Oklahoma State Bankers' association, and in 1938 was appointed State Banking Commissioner. When he went out a year after with a change in political administration he declared he was glad because "I really couldn't spare the time away from Union City."

The currents of the Pacific ocean are less marked than those of the Atlantic.

Fuller of the Milwaukee museum. He identified it as the three-toothed cinquefoil. I had skipped the cinquefoil because I thought all in that group had yellow blossoms. Cinquefoils belong in the rose family. The three-toothed variety has three leaflets, triple-toothed at the apex of each. In spite of the name, which means five-leaved, the number of leaflets in the various cinquefoils number from three to nine.

300 More Registrants Will Find Their Draft Numbers Here

Selective service registrants of the first Outagamie county district with order numbers between 1,004 and 1,291 are listed here. This is the third "installment" of first district registrants. Approximately 3,400 men between 21 and 35 are registered in the district. Draft numbers given here have been checked by the draft board and are official.

Thinks He Has Explanation of 'Water Witch'

Person Charged With Static Electricity, Engineer Declares

Tulsa, Okla.—County Engineer Dan W. Patton thinks he has a scientific explanation of a "water witch."

Patton's 91-year-old father, R. H. Patton of Huntington, Ark., is a "water witch" who recently located a water well on his son's farm, calculating the depth of the water to within three-fourths of an inch.

He did this by holding a peach tree sprout in his hand and walking over the land until the twig dipped toward one spot. There the well was dug.

"All persons carry a certain amount of static electricity in their bodies but some are more heavily charged than others," says Dan Patton. "My father is one of the exceptions and he is heavily charged."

"Running water also is charged with static. It is clear that there would be an attraction between these electric charges if some sensitive conductor was employed."

"A peach tree sprout contains hydro-cyanic or prussic acid which is a conductor of electricity and is particularly adapted as a conductor of the charges that exist in the human body.

"When a person whose body is heavily charged with static grasps the forked prongs of a peach twig, the electric charges if some sensitive conductor was employed."

"A peach tree sprout contains hydro-cyanic or prussic acid which

WHEAT

Chicago—(W)—Wheat futures rallied in the last hour today and prices reached the best levels of the session, advancing as much as 1 cent a bushel above yesterday's close. Trade was mostly of local character. Final quotations were fractionally under the day's best levels.

All other grains strengthened in sympathy with wheat, except soybeans, which apparently were unable to recover from an early setback of more than three cents a bushel. Despite pressure, however, strong absorption of the May delivery was noted at around the dollar level and some of the extreme losses were recovered.

Receipts were: wheat 15 cars, corn 97, oats eight.

Wheat closed unchanged to 1 cent higher than yesterday's final prices,
December 89-88, May 88-87, corn was 1-1 up, December 64-65; May 63-1, and oats were unchanged to 1 up. Soybeans also dipped in the final few minutes, all deliveries closing at or near the day's lowest levels, off 31-33 cents.

Labor Act Still Needs Changes, Lawrence Says

Millis Appointment Will Not Eliminate Problems, He Contends

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington—Appointment of Dr. Harry Millis to the National Labor Relations board which means a reorganization of that institution will serve to delay, but not to eliminate the amendment of the Wagner Labor Relations law.

For the last three years, in fact, ever since the supreme court upheld the constitutionality of the Wagner law, there has been an effort on the part of labor and employers to obtain changes in the act. The administration has taken the position that changes in the law itself were not needed and that a change in personnel would meet public criticism.

Although the American Federation of Labor has again and again asked for certain amendments to the law, the CIO has taken the position that the law ought not to be changed at all. This, too, has been the attitude of certain members of the labor board.

With a new personnel, it is quite possible that recommendations may come from the board itself asking for certain definitions by congress on points now ambiguous and on which the board finds itself bitterly criticised, no matter what way it decides an issue. Thus, the craft versus industrial union issue comes up again and again and the board has to bear the brunt of criticism if the effect of its ruling is to give recognition to an A. F. of L. or a CIO unit as the case may be.

Ambiguities in Law
There are other ambiguities in the law. Many of these can be met by amendment and some can be handled by rulings if congress will define more explicitly the board's powers. There are pending in the courts several issues which never would have arisen if congress had not been careless in writing the original law. The sponsors of the act, of course, have never admitted that there were any defects in the law. They have consistently refused to accept any amendments except of a minor nature.

The cause of collective bargaining has been hurt by the tactics of the friends of the law as much as by the opponents. With the appointment of a new personnel, attention will begin to center once more on substantive provisions of the law which really have the effect of producing labor disputes and strikes instead of curing them. Time and again, the evidence submitted to a house investigating committee shows that there are some fundamental misconceptions in the existing decisions of the board which deprive the citizen of basic rights. Congress might persuasively offer as an excuse for inaction the fact that the law had not been sufficiently tested or that the board had not had an opportunity to rule on controversial points, but that is not the case today.

The argument that a new board can now make new rulings and reverse the previous board is not conducive to stability. When government depends on bureaus and boards to rewrite the laws there is bound to be confusion if not a lack of confidence in such boards, each side striving to get personnel appointed or removed, depending on the point of view of the board members.

Discretionary Power
The rulings thus far clearly indicate that too much discretionary power has been delegated to the labor board and that the congress should pass on many of the questions which now are left to the board to decide. As for the belief that the courts would correct any abuses of power, this is mistaken doctrine because nowadays the majority of the supreme court are of the same political and economic predilection, and the famous comment of justice Stone made in his AAA minority opinion concerning the "economic predilections" of the justices has come true on the left-wing side, just as the opposite was held with respect to the judges who sought to protect the American constitutional system.

Congress alone, therefore, has the duty of correcting unwise legislation and preventing injustices that relate to constitutional rights, for the check of the supreme court against excesses by governmental boards and agencies can no longer be depended upon.

It is not generally realized how far the Wagner law as interpreted

Johns Believes Congress Should Remain in Session

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau
Washington—Upon his return to Washington, Congressman Joshua L. Johns, Algoma Republican, stressed his belief that congress should continue in session.

"There are plenty of important bills to keep congress busy until the new congress comes in session," he pointed out. "I have received several hundred letters in regard to the Schwert bill, alone."

The Schwert bill recently introduced, would provide funds for an extensive program for physical education and recreation in the public schools. It involves a sum of $450,000,000 and was presented by Congressman Pius L. Schwert, New York Democrat, with the expressed purpose of promoting national preparedness and welfare through the physical development of youth. "As a member of the house education committee, I am deeply interested in having extensive hearings on the bill, because it involves such a large money," Johns commented.

Legion Post Plans New Year's Dance

Hilbert — William Brockman post of the American Legion met Friday evening at the village hall. Arrangements were discussed for the annual New Year's dance.

The American Legion auxiliary also met Friday evening at the village hall. Mrs. Arthur Depies was elected chairman of the committee for the Red Cross drive. It was voted that the unit file papers of incorporation. Two new members were initiated. The meeting was adjourned by the singing of "God Bless America." Following the business meetings a joint social was held with the legion members. The following prizes were given: Five hundred, Mike Mullenbach; schafkopf, William Kupsh; rummy, Mrs. Alvin Fisher. The committee in charge of refreshments and games included Mrs. Matt Fochs, Mrs. Mike Vollmer and Mrs. Henry Jensen, Jr.

Mrs. George Wolf entertained at a 5:30 dinner Sunday evening for Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Wolf and daughters Dorothy and Janice, and William Wolf of Chilton.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Baldock were among the guests entertained at a 12 o'clock luncheon Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Lemberg of Green Bay.

Mr. and Mrs. George Winkler of Chilton entertained Sunday evening in honor of Mrs. Winkler's birthday anniversary. Those from Hilbert attending were her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Brandes also Mr. and Mrs. Charles Schwaberg, daughter Dorothy and son Cyril.

by the labor board has interfered with so basic a right as freedom of speech and of the press. The labor board contends that freedom of speech is a "qualified right" and insists that the board shall be the judge of how the right is qualified.

Deny Review
This very week the supreme court of the United States declined to review a case in which the employer included with his pay checks a statement of union policy. As in all cases that are up for review, there is no way of telling, because no opinion is rendered, just what prompted the justices to deny review. Sometimes the reason is a technical one wholly apart from the merits of the controversy. Sometimes it is because review has already been granted in a somewhat similar case.

Thus the question of the right of the employer to communicate with his employees without going through the bargaining agent is an unsettled point on which the circuit courts of appeals have ruled differently. It would appear thus far that the labor board insists on linking any statements of policy, even if made publicly through pamphlets or circulars and not specifically addressed to individuals, as likely to prove coercive if associated with a pending negotiation between an employer and his employees.

It looks now as if the new labor board will have an opportunity to review and perhaps reverse some of the existing decisions, and it looks as if the American Federation of Labor holds the key to whether the Wagner act shall be amended now or postponed till after the new board has revealed its workings.

'Swank!'—Word for New Garb Of Present Day Army Private

(This is the second of a series of stories about the life you draftees will live in army camps.)

BY MORGAN M. BEATTY

Washington —(A)—There's a word for the new citizen army uniform.

"Swank!"

The uniform will try to improve on the army tradition of making a soldier's garb easy on the eyes of fair maidens and doting mothers. And this time, they're trying to make Mr. Buck Private more comfortable, too.

The most welcome difference between 1918 and now will be the blouse collar. Coat to you, civilian. Reason? The standing choker type collar of World war days was the devil's own plague to army tailors. If the choker fit, the shoulder didn't. If the shoulder fit, the back wrinkled like a washtub rubadub. So a regular turned-down coat collar like yours and mine is the style. Coat pleats make the arm swing free. The soft-collared wool shirt and conventional black tie are staying.

Those blankety-blank britches that laced up tight around the knees and the endless roll-puttees are out. One reason, few manufacturers can make them. Another, there's little military common sense in 'em. Regular trousers without cuffs are in. Canvas leggings tuck in the legs in wet going.

Winter uniforms are of wool. Cotton shirts and shorts in the South, long handled underwear and caps with ear muffs in extremely cold areas. Short mackinaws in the South, long overcoats up North. Shoes: standard army last, high-top tan lace-ups.

But, Mom, P. S., pack your son's own shaving kit, two changes of underwear and make him take his overcoat for the trip to camp. He'll need 'em before he gets army clothing. The standard safety razor kit won't be issued, either, before he actually goes in the army. And some pocket change, too. He may not get that 30 bucks a month for 30 days.

Tomorrow: Provisions for spending leisure time.

D. A. V. Chapter Will Plan for Conference

Melvin Buesing Gets Position at Dayton, O.

Melvin Buesing, 221 E. Roosevelt street, has been named supervisor of the industrial department of Lutheran Inner Mission at Dayton, Ohio. He was selected by a committee of four after growth of the industrial department made the new position necessary. The profits of the organization's industrial department are directed to the family relief department. The Rev. F. R. Stonebrunne, institutional pastor at Dayton, is superintendent of the Inner Mission.

A graduate of Toledo university, Mr. Buesing was until recently employed by the Brettschneider Furniture company in Appleton.

Why Let Yourself Get Constipated?

Why endure those dull headachy days due to constipation, plus the inevitable trips to the medicine chest, if you can avoid both by getting at the cause of the trouble?

If your constipation, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, the "better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran.

This crunchy toasted breakfast cereal is the ounce of prevention that's worth a pound of emergency relief. It helps you not only to get regular but to keep regular, day after day and month after month, by the pleasant means you ever knew.

Eat Kellogg's All-Bran regularly, drink plenty of water, and see if you don't forget all about constipation. Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.
